NEW YORK, August 16, 1873.

Charges Against Special Agent Jayne.

Special Agent Jayne, of the Custom House, has been made the defendant in a suit for trespass, brought against him by Platt & Boyd, glass importers, who are being prosecuted for the recovery of a million of dollars revenue. It seems that Platt & Boyd discovered that five of their clerks were giving information to a rival house and discharged them. Jayne immediately took them into his service, and from the information given obtained a warrant giving him the right to seize the goods and papers relating to certain specific frauds, but according to the affidavit of the firm, Jayne, maliciously intending to injure them and to frighten them into the payment of a large sum of money in order to obtain back their property and prevent the interruption of their business and consequent injury to their commercial standing and credit, violently seized and caused to be carried away all their books and papers, as well as those which he was advised were referred to in said warrant. The firm charge Jayne with gross improprieties of speech, manner and action. When he first entered their store he threatened to put them all in Ludlow Street Jail, saying, as alleged, "I will lock up the whole d——d lot of you to-night if it takes the whole army and navy of the United States to do it."

The Mennonites.

The Mennonites who arrived here yesterday will not leave the city till Monday, as they say they cannot travel on Sunday. This advance guard of the sect is principally composed of young families, there being few old persons among them. It is their intention to go to Elkhart, Ind., where they are acquainted, and remain there prospecting until a permanent home is chosen. They are nearly all agriculturists. In 1871 the British Government held out inducements to the Mennonites to settle in Canada, promising them complete immunity from military service, but the people refused, saying if they were obliged to emigrate they would prefer to go to this country. The delegation recently visiting the west will decide, upon their return to Russia, where to plant a colony, and hope to send out a company of 5,000 in May next.

Dishonest Customs Inspectors.

It is again stated that a list of names of Customs Inspectors, against whom grave charges are made, has been forwarded to Washington for action by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The Express says a prominent official admitted to its reporter that investigations are constantly going on in the cases of inspectors, who are being dismissed for willful neglect of duty, for intoxication, and beyond a doubt some for receiving bribes; for, do what we can, such things will occur.

Competitive Examination at the Custom House.

An examination was held at the Custom House to-day by the Civil Service Examining Board, for the purpose of testing candidates for vacant deputy collectorships. The Fifth Division is now without a head, and the third is managed by the Chief Clerk since Mr. James was made postmaster. There were four candidates for the two positions.

Carl Vogt.

The counsel for Carl Vogt has received a letter from the Secretary of State to the effect that the Government will take such a course as will conform with the views expressed by the Attorney General, that the case does not come within the provisions of the extradition treaty with Prussia.

An Ex Official still Absent.

The whereabouts of M. L. Rodman, ex-Assistant City Treasurer of Brooklyn, are still unknown. It is claimed that his securities on deposit with the Trust Company are more than ample to cover the advances, and no serious errors exist in his account.

Cigar Makers on a Strike.

The cigar makers in some shops have struck in opposition to the new rule in the making of cigars requiring that right bunches be rolled in right wrappers and left bunches be rolled in left wrappers. The employers say the business dull and the strike will not affect them.

Steamship Line to Venezuela.

A steamship line between here and Venezuela will soon be established by a company of leading merchants, who have obtained certain grants and privileges from the Venezuela Government. The ships will sail under the United States flag.

Suit Against an Importer.

A suit has been commenced against Simon Haas, an importer, to recover $70,000 for alleged undervaluation of invoices.

Illness of Bishop Janes.

Bishop Janes, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, is seriously ill at his residence near Baskinridge, N. J.

Fatal Assault.

Thomas White, of 261 Delancey street, while drunk last evening, fatally assaulted Emma Byrnes, of 260 Delancey street.

A Convict Recaptured.

Daniel Donovan, one of the four convicts who escaped from Sing Sing a few nights since, has been recaptured and returned to prison.

Mortuary.

The deaths during this week were 688, a decrease of fifty-one from the previous week.

Arrival of Emigrants.

The number of emigrants who arrived this week is 3,683.

NEW YORK, August 17, 1873.

Returned.

R. M. T. Rodman, late of the Brooklyn Trust Company, has returned. He went to Irvington, N. Y., for his health.

The Custom House.

The Herald reiterates the statement that the names of sixty-one Custom House officials whose conduct should be investigated, have been sent to Washington, and says there is a disposition to sacrifice lesser officials to save the magnates. Statements made by men in high positions at the Custom House have tended to throw all the blame upon the Inspectors at the wharves. This is seen done to save themselves, and for nothing else. The Inspectors have been abused for taking perquisites, but it is not in their power to cheat the revenue directly by any possible means. The biggest swindling is done by the chief officials in the Custom House, who are permanently stationed there, and have all the best opportunities to make arrangements and to make bargains with importers.

ST. LOUIS.

Testing the Social Evil Ordinance.

ST. LOUIS, August 16.—The case of W. G. Elliott against Kate Clark, an alleged keeper of a bawdy house, with the view to test the legality of the social evil ordinance now in force here, came before Judge Calvin, of the Court of Criminal Correction, to-day, for prosecution. The [illegible] Board of Police Commissioners [illegible] Clark had made application [illegible] for bawdy purposes, and was granted. The Clerk of the [illegible]alth testified that Clark was [illegible]stitute and keeper of a house. The Registering officer of Po[illegible] that all the inmates of Clark's [illegible]gistered women. The Medical Ex[illegible] testified that he visited Clark's house weekly for the purpose of examining the inmates for venereal disease, but did not know that prostitution was carried on there.

The defense was that the present amended City Charter authorizes the city to regulate prostitution, that the amendment authorizing the regulation was equivalent to a special act, and virtually repealed the general State law bearing on the question. The defense also introduced the amended City Charter, the social evil ordinance, and the permit of the Board of Health. The prosecution objected to the two latter on the ground of their illegality, and this objection was argued at great length by the counsel, lasting till late this evening. Judge Calvin took the matter under advisement until next Saturday. The case excited great interest, the court room being crowded with spectators.

CORRESPONDENCE.

UNIONTOWN.

The Judgeship in the Fourteenth Judicial District—The Policy of Nominating a Republican Candidate Discussed—The Harvest in Fayette County.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

UNIONTOWN, PA., August 16, 1873.

THE FOURTEENTH DISTRICT JUDGESHIP.

We no longer have a party organ in this place, and I therefore respectfully ask your permission to express, through your columns, my views on the question of the nomination of a candidate for Judge by our party in this Fourteenth Judicial District. There is always a loss of votes—a permanent loss—by the party which makes no nomination, but allows an election to go by default.

We tried the experiment once; we don't wish to try it again. If we have no lawyer in the district competent for the office of Judge, then let it nominate some one outside of the district. I am not one of those who think that all the talent and learning of the country is concentrated in one of the leaders of our degenerated Fayette county Democracy. "He is an able lawyer," but no more successful than numbers of others, and if tried, might prove a miserable failure as a judge. "The judicial office ought not to be a political one," but A. E. Willson, Esq., has, for years, been a leader of the leaders of Democracy in this county, and although quiet, his utterances have been as bitter and as partisan as his great learning and ability enable him to make them.

His friends say that if not endorsed by us, Mr. W. will withdraw from the contest and throw his influence in favor of the Greene county candidate, who, they say, is wholly incompetent for the position. Will he compel us to endorse him? Are thy servants dogs, that we should do this thing at the dictation of this prince of Democracy? He is not a politician, but still is so very strict a party man that he would throw his influence in favor of a man whom he knows to be wholly incompetent for the position. Ah! no; he is not a politician. He is a very honest Democrat.

In his last effusion in the Standard, the editor says: "we will not be guilty of the folly of nominating a candidate," and among many other inconsiderate expressions, too tedious to mention, "that a very large proportion of the Republicans of this county are irrevocably committed to Mr. W., and will adhere to him in any event." A year ago this editor of a Republican paper poured out the vials of his wrath against A. W. Taylor, Esq., our present Congressman, and I wrote to you that he could not control fifty votes in the whole county, and the election showed that I was right; his very large proportion of Republicans will perhaps number twenty this time. From the frequency and virulency of his articles in this campaign, we fear that he has cheated the "Messenger man" out of his fair share of the swag, and is now endeavoring to sell out our party to his new owners.

THE HARVEST IN FAYETTE.

Our farmers are nearly all done harvesting, have their blackberries all picked, and are ready to begin plowing for next year's crop. Wheat and oats are fully up to the average. Corn and grass are spotted; dry weather and the cut and grub worms were unusually severe on the corn this year. Huckleberries have not been very plenty in our part of the mountains, and have not sold at low figures. Apples, corn and tomatoes are plenty and cheap. The Colorado visitors have cleaned out potato tops. "Q."

FREEPORT.

The Town and its Surroundings—The Population and Business—Improvements Going On—Advantages and Wants of the Place.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

FREEPORT, PA., August 14, 1873.

In reading your excellent paper, I see so much said in praise of surrounding towns and their business, and our own peaceful, yet thriving little town is not so much as mentioned, that I am almost led to believe that the public have not even heard that there is such a place as Freeport. That your many readers may have some idea of our town, I will give you a few of the leading points.

Freeport is situated on the right bank of the Allegheny river, twenty-eight miles above Pittsburgh and one mile below the mouth of the Kiskaminetas river and immediately above the mouth of Buffalo creek, and on the line of the West Penn Railroad, which is intersected at this point by the Butler Branch, leading directly to the oil country. We are also in close proximity to the A. V. R. R., being separated from it only by the Allegheny river. The population of Freeport numbers about two thousand. Of the morality of the place we feel proud. We have nine churches and no license, which is all the evidence necessary on this point. The business consists of two large planing mills and sash and door factories, one of which is not now in operation, owing to the death of one of the owners.

There is also one extensive saw mill in constant operation, which consumes an immense lot of saw logs daily. The lumber is shipped to all parts of the oil country and other places, to assist in building up our great country.

There are also two flouring mills, one in full operation, the other now undergoing repairs, it having lately passed into the hands of men who have the means and determination to run the business on an extensive scale.

Of dry goods stores there are eight, all of which are doing a good business.

Groceries are too numerous to mention, but of all the vast number the most of them are doing well; all they need is a little experience to teach them to confine themselves to one branch of business.

There are two large woolen factories here, which manufacture the best flannels in the market.

There are two tailoring establishments. The one has just built an extensive building, to which he will remove in a short time. The other is also repairing to some extent, but not so extensively.

There has been quite a number of good buildings put up here this Summer, and our town is in every way improving rapidly. All that is needed to make this a first-class business place is a rolling mill or glass works, or some manufactory that will employ men, and thus increase the consumption of all kinds of goods. I know of no place where capital could be invested to more advantage than here, as the coal and shipping facilities can be no better anywhere.

Our town is lighted with gas, and water works are talked of. READER.

TARENTUM CAMP-MEETING.

Thursday Night—Next Morning—The Kind of Weather—Sermons and Other Exercises—People Coming—The Prospect—No Lack of Preachers, &c.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

FRIDAY.

Last night was one of quietness and of sweet slumber in the encampment. This morning was not promising. Thick, dark clouds overspread the sky. At nine o'clock an experience meeting was held at the stand. It was very interesting, many taking part in it. As it was closing the sun burst open his prison-house and came forth rejoicing. Then there were glad faces and merry hearts. The very woods seemed to clap their hands and rejoice.

At 10:30 a sermon was preached by Rev. M. G. Miller, from these words—"Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God; for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man." The preacher was clear, logical and forcible. His sermon was a rich treat to the thoughtful.

Rev. M. B. Pugh at 2:30 o'clock P. M. discoursed from this text—"For what is your life?" The sermon was followed by a very interesting prayer-meeting. One lady prayed, whose pathos and power moved the whole audience.

After supper, prayer-meetings were held in some of the cottages. The songs of the people made the whole encampment vocal.

At night Dr. R. L. Miller preached a clear, earnest, searching sermon, taking for his text these words—"Quench not the spirit." Penitents presented themselves for prayer, and the exercises at the altar continued for some time. The audience was large, and gave close attention to the words spoken. The best of order prevails. Every coming train brings large numbers of people. Nearly every cottage is occupied, and the indications now are that the attendance will be larger than ever before.

There is no lack of preachers. More than a score are on the ground, and still they come. AMICUS.

NEW WATERFORD, OHIO.

Stores and Private Dwellings Robbed.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

NEW WATERFORD, Colorado Co., O., August 15, 1873.—We had hoped the bands of thieves who have been committing robberies in so many sections both in Pennsylvania and Ohio might pass by our quiet little town without molesting it, but no such good fortune has been ours, for on rising this morning it was found that most all the stores in town had been robbed, and several private dwellings.

It seems that they commenced their depredations in the store of Mr. C. B. Fisher, bursting the door open with a crow bar. Here they did not get a very large sum of money, but took considerable goods, dragging almost the entire stock off the shelves, and leaving it in the utmost confusion.

Next the house of Mr. J. C. McNutt was entered, and twenty dollars in money secured, and a gold watch belonging to a young lady visiting at his house, valued at a hundred and fifty dollars.

Next they entered the store and residence of John Chapman, cutting out the slats of one of the venetian shutters and entering the window. After securing the scrip and pennies they proceeded up stairs to the bed-room, where they got what money was there, in all getting about thirty dollars in cash. They did not molest the goods in this store to any great extent, only taking some fancy articles. His whole loss will probably not amount to more than forty dollars.

Yours, etc. J. C.

TWO WOMEN DECAPITATED.

Frightful Scenes on a German Scaffold—Piteous Appeals for Mercy.

On the 11th of July, Anna Priester, aged 32, and Frederica Ruppert, 27, were beheaded at Dessau, the German Duchy of Anhalt. Both were married, and conspicuous among the vast crowds that witnessed their last moments were their husbands. Anna Priester and Frederica Ruppart had paid a visit to the aged widow Garnig, on the 12th of April. The old lady had showed them a large casket filled with precious stones, and after they had left her they determined to return and appropriate her valuables. They found the widow in bed, and smothered her to death by pressing a pillow upon her head. They obtained the precious stones and other valuables, but on the following morning they were arrested, and soon after convicted of murder and sentenced to death. Their life in prison was an almost unbroken series of sickening scenes of fear and despair. On the morning of the day of their death, Executioner Pritzier entered the cell. After tying their hands to their backs, and connecting their feet with a short leather strap, he cut off the upper part of their dresses, exposing their necks. During this operation they begged the headsman piteously to have mercy on them. The executioner tried to comfort them, but when he left their cell their cries of anguish and distress could be heard all over the prison. When they arrived on the scaffold the executioner's assistants had to support them. The death warrants were read, and the headsman motioned Anna Priester to advance. The wretched woman threw herself on her knees, and cried in a piercing tone. "Mercy! mercy!" She had to be dragged up to the block, where her head was quickly fastened. The headsman took his ax from a leather case. He tried the edge of the blade and then rapidly stepped up to the left side of the block. He looked a moment at the white neck of the woman, whose body was moving convulsively all the time. Then he lifted the ax and struck. The blow had done its work well, for the head of Anna Priester rolled down, while her trunk rose up, a thick stream of blood spouting into the air. Meanwhile Frederica, upon witnessing this horrible spectacle, had fainted away, and the doctor had to hold hartshorn under nose before she reawoke to consciousness. She was already more dead than alive when her head was fastened to the block. A second or two afterward her head, too, had been severed from the trunk. And then ensued a still more revolting scene. Large numbers of bystanders hastened on the scaffold and tried to gather some of the blood of the victims in teacups or tin vessels, the superstitious in certain parts of Germany believing that the blood of executed females is a certain remedy for diseases otherwise incurable.

CHRISTIANITY vs. MOHAMMEDANISM.

Flight of the Christian Population of Bosnia—Where is United States Minister Boker?

According to the accounts which have reached Vienna from the Bosnian frontier, the Christian inhabitants of the commercial town of Berbier, on the Save, have appealed to the Governor of Bosnia for protection against the fanatical Turks of the district, who have broken into several houses and robbed and murdered their Christian occupants. The Governor, Mustapha Assim Pasha, refused to listen to their complaints, and thirty Christian families have consequently escaped across the river to the Austrian town of Altgradisca, where they are now staying under the protection of the Austrian authorities. It is said that three hundred more families are preparing to emigrate into Austria, as Bosnia is now in such a state of anarchy that there is no protection for life or property. The Christian peasantry have taken refuge in the mountains, and a guerilla war is said to be imminent. A similar state of things exists in the Herzegovina, and the Christians of that province are emigrating in great numbers to Montenegro and Dalmatia.—Eastern Budget.

The Lorillard Medal.

Mr. Harvey Brown, of Cleveland, Ohio, has returned the Lorillard medal to the donor with the following letter:

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13, 1873.

Louis Lorillard, Esq., New York City:

DEAR SIR: I have forwarded you this day, as per United States Express, receipt herewith, the "Lorillard National Championship Medal," won by me at the recent grand sweepstakes, at Saratoga Springs, August 7th, 1873. Having as yet, as its possessor, received no challenges in accordance with the regulations governing the championship, I deem it proper to return the medal to you as the original donor, to be disposed of as may best suit your views and wishes. The reason for this action is that my recent experience at Saratoga Springs satisfied me that the contests in defending the badge are likely to be of such a character that no gentleman can consistently enter into them. I regret that the initiatory step in your praiseworthy effort to encourage trapshooting and field sports in this country should have developed the gambler's greed for gain, rather than an honest desire to test the comparative merits of the contestants. I trust that any second sweepstakes for this medal will start out under such auspices that future contests in its defense will be all that you and other true sportsmen could desire. With much respect, I remain you, obedient servant. HARVEY A. BROWN.

The Railway Disaster at Wigan.

NEW YORK, August 16.—This morning's mail brings full details of the railway disaster at Wigan, England, on the London and Northwestern Railroad, on the morning of Saturday, August 2d, of the leading features of which the cable gave a summary, and in which Sir John Anson lost his life. The number almost instantly killed or taken out dead in the course of the forenoon was ten. The number of wounded was twenty-six, of whom one, John Foster, of Oxford, died on the same day, and Robert Goodman, another, was reported dead next Monday night. A little boy died on Monday afternoon.

At eighteen minutes past one the tourist train, speeding northward, came dashing on, drawn by two engines, at the rate of not much less than forty miles an hour, when a sudden wrench shook all the carriages from the first to the last, and while eighteen of the number kept the rails, the others in the rear, with three vans, parted suddenly from the foremost portion of the train and took the siding at the points where the down line is crossed obliquely. The detached carriages veered over against that portion of the platform which abuts on the siding, and ploughed flags and earth up for a length of twenty or thirty yards. The leading carriage, which was of composite construction, leaped the metals and bounded upon the platform, throwing itself up in mid-air and alighting bottom uppermost. This carriage was smashed into a thousand splinters. The two succeeding carriages sprang from the metals to the platform and fell over with a terrific crash upon their sides, and one or two others turned almost completely over a few yards beyond, blocking the siding and smashing themselves into indescribable wrecks. One corner of the wall from which springs the roof of the station was struck and knocked out of plumb for several yards long. The length of a thick brick wall adjoining, built between the railway and Queen street, which is five or six yards below the level of the railway, was partly knocked down, and a large fragment of one of the carriages, as well as the mangled body of a female passenger, was hurled over the wall, falling upon and through a slated roof of a portion of Walker's foundry. A number of men were working, but none of them were injured.

GERMANY.

The Emperor's Health.

NEW YORK, August 16.—A Berlin correspondent says that one of the events for which it is well to be prepared is, the death of the German Emperor. Apprehensions about his case arise, not so much from specific attacks of illness as from various signs, insignificant when taken apart, but full of significance when grouped together. His journey to St. Petersburg left, it is said, a bad effect on his constitution. He returned rather tired after a long round of dissipation and tedious railway journey. Soon after the Shah arrived, to the physical fatigue incident to the part of host, was added a nervous suffering brought on by the eccentricity of his guest. It was supposed at one time that his illness was feigned in order to escape further interviews with the King of Kings. After the departure of the Shah the Emperor retired to Potsdam, where one hot afternoon he suddenly fainted, falling heavily forward on the floor, and only after an hour was he brought to consciousness. The Emperor is petulant and vacillating, and has a morbid dread of being left alone, and is adverse to being disturbed.

THE COTTON CROP.

Reports from Southern States.

NEW ORLEANS, August 16.—The Cotton Exchange Committee on Statistics and Information submit the following report, condensed from letters received by them from July 31st to August 10th, in answer to interrogations sent out during the month of July:

Mississippi received sixty answers from forty-two counties. The condition of the crop in this State is above the average; picking is fully two weeks later than last season, commencing about the 10th of September.

Letters from thirty parishes in Louisiana complain of excessive rains, and represent the weather as having been less favorable than last year. The plant is generally represented as being well fruited, though we have some complaints of shedding. The area under cultivation is estimated to be about equal to last season. The general condition of the crop is represented as being good.

Fifty one letters from forty-two counties in Texas complain of too much rain, though the season will compare favorably with last year's. The great majority represent the plant well formed and bolled. The area under culture at this date shows a marked increase over last year. The condition is reported as good, though backward.

In Arkansas, the plant, though small, is well formed and bolled. The same area is under cultivation as last year. The condition is a fair average one.

In Tennessee the area under cultivation shows a marked increase over last season. The condition of the crop is decidedly promising.

In Alabama the plant is unanimously represented as fruiting remarkably well, and the appearance of the army worm is reported in seventeen counties. The area under cultivation is about equal, or, if possible, a little larger than last year. The indications are generally represented as good and promising.

In North Carolina the plant is represented as well formed and bolled. The area under culture is larger than last year. The condition is unanimously reported as promising.

In South Carolina the average shows some increase over last season. The general condition is very good.

In Georgia the plant, though small, is represented as fruiting remarkably well. The area under culture exceeds that of last year. The general condition of the crop is reported as being flattering.

Mr. Spinner's Plan.

Treasurer Spinner, in a letter just published, reaffirms the position taken by him seven years ago, that Congress should enact a law compelling the resumption of specie payments on a day in the future to be fixed, say, three years from the passage of such act. This sounds very much like the famous dictum of the late Mr. Greeley, that "the way to resume, is to resume." No law can bring about the state of things which Mr. Sumner desires. Legislation might as well attempt to reverse the laws of gravitation as those of trade. In their own good time these laws will accomplish the object so ardently longed for, not only by Mr. Spinner, but by the people. To name a day for resumption and work for it deliberately would require such an adjustment of values and such a complicated computation of debts and claims and demands, that nothing but a financial crash would ensue.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

OBITUARY.

Hon. Wm. M. Meredith.

PHILADELPHIA, August 17.—Hon. Wm. M. Meredith died here to-day, aged 77 years. Born in 1799, of a father who bore a prominent part in the political history of the revolution, Mr. Meredith commenced the practice of law in 1820. Entering politics, as all ambitious young lawyers of that period did, he was in the State Legislature from 1824 to 1828. From 1834 to 1839 he was President of the Select Council of Philadelphia. In 1839 he was chosen a member of the first convention for amending the constitution of the State. President Taylor made him Secretary of the Treasury in 1849. From 1861 to 1869 he was Attorney General of Pennsylvania. When the Alabama claims commission was to be appointed, President Grant offered Mr. Meredith the position which Evarts afterward filled, but he declined it. This, briefly sketched, is his career. It only needs to add that when the second constitutional convention organized last winter, the movement to make Mr. Meredith, who had served in its predecessor thirty-six years ago, its President, was spontaneous and unanimous. How he has served in that capacity, presiding over its deliberations and by his experience influencing its conclusions, is known to all men. Mr. Meredith was one of the few statesmen of the old school, and he has died in the harness, full of years and honored by all.

Charges Against the Private Character of Senator Carpenter.

MILWAUKEE, August 16.—The Evening Wisconsin, (Republican), of to-day, alluding to the charges published against the private character of Senator Carpenter, says: "The New York Tribune and Chicago Times have made the most serious charges against the private character of Senator Carpenter. These charges are too grave to pass unnoticed. They are uttered by journals of ample pecuniary responsibility. They can be made to suffer most seriously if they have given currency to reports that are false and libellous, and the constituents of the Senator have a right to know the truth. If they are false, personal malevolence could go no further, and any jury would award such damages as would be a lesson to all future journalists. The people demand that the Senator of their choice should vindicate his character."

PLATT AND BOYD, the firm prosecuted by the Government for frauds on the customs, have entered suit against special agent Jayne, whom they accuse of insulting epithets, and excess of severity, in seizing books not included in the bill of complaint, and in seeking to injure their commercial credit. If all this can be substantiated, they ought to prosecute the man they complain of.

THE FRENCH are jubilant over the near payment of the German indemnity, and but for the despoilment of Alsace and Lorraine, would jubilate over their brilliant financial success. As it is, they propose to compliment Thiers for the service rendered the nation by him, in inaugurating a financial policy which has produced such marvellous results. He is certainly deserving of the compliment proposed, and France deserves well of Europe for the wonderful recuperative energy displayed, and promptness in anticipating her financial obligations. We hope it is true, as rumored, that Germany, in response to the good offices of Russia, will restore Metz to France. If she would be even more generous, and restore Alsace and Lorraine, we believe all Europe would applaud.

IT SEEMS quite certain that the Emperor William, of Germany, is greatly impaired in health, and that he may, at any time, suddenly die. His advanced age, and the excitements through which he has passed within a few years, are sufficient to account for decline in health and vigor. Some of the symptoms of the disease are similar to those with which the father of Frederick the Great suffered. He was nervous and petulant, religious in his way, but it was after a stern and warlike model. His family suffered terribly from his ebullitions of temper, and those around him, whatever their station, feared his spasms of rage. We do not know that the Emperor William is so extreme as was his great ancestor,—for in a certain way, old King Wilhelm was a great man. But so far as developed, his traits of mind and temper are similar,—and the development of these peculiarities, in his later years, amounted to a disease. The Emperor William is of a full habit, and his ailments may tend to apoplexy and sudden death.

OUR NEIGHBOR, the Chronicle, in its Saturday issue, refers to the laying of two additional tracks, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, as insuring the transaction of a larger amount of business than is now done. This is true; but to our mind, a very important result, that will attend the increase of facilities, will be the greater safety insured. The Pennsylvania road is even now one of the best and safest in the country, but in passing over it, we have observed that when accidents did occur, they were generally caused, in some way, by freight trains. We have had the curiosity to know what the percentage of losses, through accidents, per year, might be; and what proportion of these accidents were occasioned by freight trains. Our belief is, that on many roads, it would represent the legal interest on a large proportion of the sum necessary to furnish additional tracks. When the Pennsylvania road shall be provided with a double freight and a double passenger track, we are confident that a serious accident will be, with it, one of the rarest of occurrences.

THE war, so imminent between the Sioux and Pawnees, promises to be one of the most bitter of which we have had recent record. It may, indeed, be said to have broken out. The recent battle, in which the Sioux so largely outnumbered the Pawnees, can only serve to leave the bitterest feeling on both sides. The Pawnees, it is said, inflicted a heavier loss of life on their pursuers, than they suffered themselves; but a portion of their loss was most exasperating, including, as it did, women and children. The Sioux will naturally feel revengeful over the severe punishment they received. Both parties are preparing to renew the contest, and are seeking to draw other tribes into alliance with them. The Government is severely criticised for the outbreak, and for permitting arms to be smuggled to the Indians. We do not see how these outbreaks of Indian savagery can be charged against the present policy of the Government. They represent a chronic condition of affairs, which no policy has suppressed, and which the old policy of the Government often encouraged. The feuds between tribes are, many of them, a century old. It must be expected that time shall elapse before they are entirely subdued.

LIVE AND DEAD CAPITAL.

Henry C. Carey, the political economist, delivered an address before the Constitutional Convention, with reference to an attempt to insert in the new organic law of the State a section establishing free trade in money, which would put it out of the power of the Legislature ever to fix by law a limit to the rate of interest. In the course of this address, he used a new phrase to distinguish the difference between currency and credit, which is possessed of considerable force. Currency, or its equivalent, coin, he calls live money; credit, as represented in notes, bonds, mortgages and the like, he calls dead money. The two have an important bearing on the conditions of prosperity in the country, and we quote from Mr. Carey, that we may give his precise meaning. Speaking of affairs as they were two years before the war, he says:

There were here more than 16,000,000 of persons capable, more or less, of contracting debts, large or small; nine-tenths of whom, as there is reason of believing, were paying interest at rates from ten to two hundred per cent. Had each of these been required, daily or weekly, to give his note for the debt thus incurred, there would have been exhibited, to an amount greatly exceeding two thousand millions, uncurrent money as perfectly dead, so far as regarded all performance of exchanges, as if it had been buried in the earth. As a consequence of this, the societary movement, in the first year of the war, was paralyzed to a degree greatly exceeding anything the country before ever had known. What then was needed was live money, to take the place of the dead that was then being hourly created. To the end that this might be supplied, the Nation, through its finance minister, proclaimed to all its members that it needed labor and labor's products in their various forms, and would give in exchange live money to the extent of $400,000,000; or, in other words, money of such character as fitted it to be used for effecting exchanges of any and every kind whatsoever. At once the scene was changed, the employer being now enabled to pay cash for all the service, and all the materials, of which he stood in need; and the workman, in like manner, enabled to pay in cash for the food and clothing required by his family and himself. The farmer, now selling his crops for live money, was thus enabled to place the storekeeper in a position to buy for cash in the distant cities. Almost at once, and as if by magic, the usurious charges disappeared, thereby lightening the burdens of workingmen, farmers, mechanics, and laborers, to an annual extent thrice, if not even more than thrice, exceeding the amount of greenbacks issued. Of all financial measures on record there has been none which has so much tended toward elevation of the laborer, and toward establishing harmony in the relations of labor and capital, as has been the case with that by which $400,000,000 of live money, free of interest, was made to take the place of thousands of millions of dead money, for whose use our people had been paying interest at twice, thrice, and even twenty times, the legal rates. Had the war given us nothing but this, it would be well worth to the nation, leaving out of view the waste of life, far more than all its cost. Nevertheless, we have among us financiers, so called, busily denouncing, as 'a forced loan,' the admirable machinery that has thus been given to our people, and insisting that we shall now discard it, with the certainty before us of being thereby compelled to return to the dead-money system, with its usurious rates. To a considerable extent this has been already done, the consequences exhibiting themselves in the money grievances in regard to which there is now so much and so just complaint."

We ask our readers to carefully notice the utterances above quoted. They embody the deliberate views of the foremost political economist of our day, and suggest several important considerations. Generally, they serve to illustrate the extreme unwisdom of the policy of limiting the supply of circulating medium, and that the burden of the shrinkage falls most heavily on the debtor class. It is well understood that credit, whether at the grocery or the bank, involves the payment of interest. At the grocery, it assumes the form of higher prices; at the bank, of discounts. As in the time before the war, the credit system was very general, it was also expensive and dangerous. The workman was often paid in orders, on certain stores; the merchants, in turn, bought on credit, and the country was ramified by a system of credits. It is well known, that in those days, the cash buyer could obtain better rates than the credit purchaser. Eventually, this system broke down, suddenly and completely. In 1857, the failure of one class of debtors, involved their creditors, and business houses, over the entire country, went toppling down like ten-pins. Values shrunk, and thousands were ruined. Had there been a paper currency, equal to the demands of those times and backed by Government credit, much of the evil would have been avoided.

Mr. Carey calls the Government issue of $400,000,000 of legal tenders, live money—that is, "money of such a character as fitted it to be used for effecting exchanges of any and every kind whatever." Of this $400,000,000 issued Secretary McCulloch retired $14,000,000 from circulation. This was done under the idea of forcing specie payments. The effort was to force greenbacks up to the price of gold, or gold down to the price of greenbacks. It was a failure. The fact was speedily developed that the forcing process had little influence on the price of gold, while it did seriously disturb the current of business, and the prosperity of the country. At last the danger became so great that Congress compulsorily stopped the retiring of greenbacks. The theory of Mr. Carey is that which this journal has urged, that with the growth of population, business, industry and solid wealth, there must of necessity be a corresponding growth of circulating medium. It is one of the clearest problems in political economy. As well say that a railroad, which gradually extends its track, increases its mileage, develops business, and enlarges its supply of rolling stock does not need more locomotives, as that a nation that enlarges its population, business and wealth, does not need more circulating medium. Before the war, the vast territory between the Rocky mountains and the Pacific slope, beyond the Sierra Nevadas was but slightly settled,—now it teems with a vast population. In a thousand ways, the demand for currency increases, and unless the supply is made to equal the demand, we will have one of the conditions for another business crisis.

We seriously doubt the necessity for making the restoration of specie payments a question of first importance. We believe it to be entirely secondary to that of a proper currency supply. Bullion has two uses—that of a circulating medium and that of security for something else, to be used as a circulating medium. Currency, other than bullion, has two forms of security—that of bullion and that of the Government issuing it. In England there is a larger note circulation than there is of gold in the bank to redeem at one time. Whether, as Mr. Greeley used to argue, the mere announcement, by the Government, that it would redeem its greenbacks in gold would answer the purpose, the Government has never had the courage to test. The only difference it could possibly make, if it were successfully done, would be to occasion a readjustment of prices, on such articles as pay a gold duty. The people would scarcely know or feel it. In other words, there is a certain amount of gold and silver, and of greenbacks in the country. The entire amount, in active times, is in use. Business is adjusted to the difference in values. If specie payments were declared, there would be no more currency in the country than there now is, and it would probably have no greater purchasing power. At most, the gold bears but a small proportion to the wealth of the country, and could not control it.

We regard it, then, as a matter of first importance that the currency of the country should be increased commensurately with the demand for it. The oft-used argument that it will stimulate speculation is not supported by facts. At this moment, when business is dull, and currency relatively plentiful, there is but little speculation. In the fall, when trade is active, crops to be moved, pork to be packed, and currency relatively scarce, the probability is that speculation will be rife. Such has been the experience of the last few years. In brief, the lesson of the past fifteen years is this: With currency unequal to the demands of trade, burthens are laid on the poor, and special advantages are conferred on the rich. With currency plentiful, legitimate trade is more active, and stock speculation less prominent. We thoroughly believe that the mighty industrial projects that are being forwarded, and the rapid material development of the country, that is being so actively carried forward, and the prosperity of the masses, demand the reissue of the retired currency.

ZACHARY TAYLOR'S GRAVE.

Present Condition of its Surroundings.

Of the present condition of the surroundings of the grave of the late President Zachary Taylor, the Louisville Courier-Journal says: "Between five and six miles from the city, on an obscure neighborhood road, a quarter of a mile from the Brownsboro road, rest the remains of the twelfth President of the United States—Zachary Taylor. The grave is situated in the northeast corner of the Taylor farm, and it is mortifying to relate that it is in a sadly neglected condition, underbrush, weeds and ailantus trees rendering it very difficult of access. No monument has ever been erected to Gen. Taylor's memory. The remains lie in a plain vault built in the side of a hill, with a marble slab over the door bearing the inscription:

Z. Taylor,
Born Nov. 24, 1784;
Died July 9, 1850.

The services rendered by this brave, good-natured old soldier deserve monumental recognition. A gentleman who recently visited the grave, said to a reporter of this paper: "As I stood there, with head uncovered, my mind reverted to boyhood days, and I remembered a solemn funeral cortege at Philadelphia, the city in mourning, public buildings and private residences draped in black, a hush all over the city, sadness depicted in every face, for great, brave old Gen. Taylor was dead. The whole nation, in fact, mourned his loss. Twenty-three years after this I find myself at his grave near Louisville, and am impressed with the fact that the nation's dead are soon forgotten." The place does indeed appear forgotten. A stone wall incloses the little graveyard, and a rusty and unused iron gate frowns upon the visitor. It evidently has not been opened for years. Col. Richard Taylor is buried to the right of Gen. Taylor. An obelisk, eighteen feet high, is erected over his grave, bearing the inscription: "Col. Richard Taylor, a soldier of the Revolutionary war, and a native of Orange county, Virginia; born April 3, 1744; died Jan. 19, 1829." Col. Taylor came to this State while his son, Zachary, was an infant, and settled on the plantation where he now is buried."

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

SEVERAL failures in the Liverpool cotton trade are announced.

JOHN TAYLOR and John Wilson, the two principals in a prize fight, and Harry Classen and John Collins, their seconds, have been sent to the Buffalo Workhouse for ninety days.

THE two hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Wrentham, Mass., and the two hundred and thirteenth of its settlement, which was begun in 1660—forty years after the landing of the Pilgrims—occurs on the 15th of October, and a movement is on foot for a proper celebration of the event.

SUBSCRIPTION lists are circulating among the French residents of New York, for a testimonial to Thiers in recognition of his services and the policy by which the speedy deliverance of the French territory by the German occupation was insured. The proposition to celebrate the final evacuation by a national festival has been abandoned, on the ground that Alsace and Lorraine have not been restored.

DURING the disturbance in Pernambuco, growing out of measures taken by the Brazilian bishops against the Free Masons, the Jesuit College was broken into, sacred pictures destroyed, confessionals shattered, and four of the reverend fathers beaten, one of whom is dying from the blows received. The office of the bishops' newspaper was entered and the materials thrown out of the windows and the paper burned.

A SUGGESTION comes from Washington that a law be passed making pilots regularly appointed officers of the Government, and the excellence of the suggestion is so apparent that we cannot but wonder that it has not been previously made and adopted. The advantages which must flow from the passage of the law proposed are clearly stated in the dispatch, and it is unnecessary for us to do more than give it our most hearty approval

RECORDER HACKETT has sentenced a "roper in" of a gambling house to two years in the State Prison and a fine of $1,000, which, of course, he will have to work out, which will make his term about five or six years in all. If now Recorder Hackett will see that this is not an isolated case, but sentence every like criminal who is brought before him and proved guilty to a like term, he will deserve the thanks of the community, and break up a most disreputable business.

THE number of distilleries in the United States, in operation August 1, is stated by the Internal Revenue Department at 208, with a capacity for producing 181,729 gallons of spirits daily. This is a decrease compared with July 1 of 103 in the number of distilleries, and 30,490 gallons in the daily production. It will thus be seen that the distilleries have their vacation in midsummer as well as other people, for it is not to be understood that those which stopped running in July have gone out of the business.

THE Chicago Tribune of Monday says: The reports from all sections of the Northwest regarding the crops indicate a most bountiful harvest. In Minnesota and Wisconsin the yield is literally immense. The Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce are alarmed about their capacity to store the 40,000,000 bushels of surplus grain they calculate upon seeking a market there. A special committee have have had the matter under advisement and have anxiously inquired of the railway and elevator companies what extra provision can be made to meet the emergency.

GEORGE L. HARRISON, Esq., has written a letter giving a short sketch of the labors of the Board of State Charities, of which he is President, and of the difficulties it has encountered and the obstacles that have been thrown in its way. A point particularly dwelt upon by Mr. Harrison is the attention that has been paid by the board to the treatment of insane persons in county jails and almshouses, and the number of cases that have been relieved through its agency. There is no public trust in Pennsylvania in which the people repose more confidence than this board.

JURORS and judges have estimated the value of entire legs and arms lost by the carelessness of others; but this matter has been brought to a fine point, indeed, in Auburn. A damsel there lost her toe by reason of a defect in the sidewalk. Twelve men have discussed the value of that toe, and have given the poor young woman $1,500 damages. This would have been little enough, even for the little toe. If it was the "light fantastic toe," which we suppose to be the great toe, it was surely not enough, for then she could not dance, even at the verdict.

A NEW witness in the Tichborne case turns up at Springfield, Ill. He was the real Sir Roger's riding teacher and daily companion when Sir Roger, then a young man, was stationed with his regiment at Cahir Barracks, Ireland, and feels sure he can tell whether the claimant is what he pretends to be. His name is John Crowley, and he is a well-known veterinary surgeon of Springfield, and is vouched for as a man of high character and intelligence. Should Mr. Wealley, the English member of Parliament, who is now in New York collecting funds and testimony, really want it settled whether or not his client is Sir Roger Tichborne, let him take Mr. Crowley back to London with him.

A WORCESTER, Mass., paper says that on Saturday, a workman, in one of the shops in Milbury, was attracted by the painful and long-continued bellowing of a cow, and at length started out to ascertain the cause. He followed the sound to a pasture, where he found a cow, which had fallen in attempting to get over a wall in such a manner as not to be able to get up, and a huge brindle dog was gnawing her living body. Not daring to approach the ravenous beast alone, the man went for help, and when he returned the dog was gone. The cow was horribly torn about the flank, and both eyes were dug out. She was killed at once to end her sufferings. No trace of the dog has been found, although several men spent Sunday in hunting him, it not being considered safe to allow such a creature to be at large.

SPITTING.

Is the World a Huge Spit-Box?

It is a curious thing to consider how many people there are in the world whose daily habits are very little superior to those of the beasts of the field. They do not understand the use of the bath. They are guilty of all sorts of dirty practices, and it is one of their peculiarities that they care nothing whatever for the annoyance or discomfort they inflict upon others. They are half unconscious that their own habits are very objectionable, and consequently they do not always reflect that they give great offence to others. They live like pigs themselves, and naturally fancy that the manners and customs of the sty are universally popular and agreeable. Consequently they go about the world a nuisance to everybody, and are utterly incapable of learning anything from the example of better people around them.

The spitters are among the most offensive of this numerous class. They have no respect for man, woman or child. You see their tracks in every thoroughfare and every public building. They would as soon make their mark on your best carpet as on the roadway. Half the people to be met with in the streets are dangerous to pass—for just as you get up to them, they discharge a volley of which your are likely to receive full on your dress or coat, without hope of "dodging" it. Ladies, of course, suffer the most. They cannot get out of the way. And the chewers care little for their feelings in the matter. They regard the world as a huge spitbox, and would resent any suggestion as to the filthiness of their actions as an infringement of personal liberty.

In cars, the nuisance is almost worse than in the streets. The driver very likely chews, and his contributions to the universal spittoon are carried through the car, to the great delight of the passengers. Or a man will seat himself by the window at the upper end of the car and begin scattering his favors on all sides of him—on the mat, out of window, to the right, left, or any side he may momentarily fancy. The wind may be ahead, and thus diffuse the shower in a spray through the air. Remonstrance is useless. "A man has a right to spit, hasn't he?" And if you don't like it, you can get out of the car and walk.

These persons are what a famous lecturer calls "beasts way down." The language sounds strong, notwithstanding its obscurity, but the Amherst young men probably understand it. At any rate, there can be but one opinion among decent people with regard to this foul habit of spitting. It is a thing to be checked, if possible. But if anybody asks us how it is possible to do it, we shall be obliged to say that we do not know. This is one of those evils which we can only describe without professing to be able to supply a remedy.—N. Y. Times.

The Approaching Royal Marriage.

Of course there is a variety of gossip apropos of the approaching marriage between the Duke of Edinburg, of the House of Guelph, and the Grand Duchess Maria, of the Romanoff family. The latest bone of contention, now that the marriage-portion settled, concerns the particular Church in which the marriage is to be celebrated. One statement is to the effect that the marriage will take place in St. Petersburg, according to the rites of the Greek Church. But this, it is said, will excite the ire of the royal Britishers. It is a wonder that the notion has not been suggested that they should be married in the Greek Church at St. Petersburg, in the English Church at London, in the Presbyterian Church at Glasgow or Edinburg, and in the Catholic Church at Dublin or Cork. This would satisfy all the Russians and the United Kingdom of England, Ireland and Scotland; and, as the several marriages would be merely cumulative, the tie would be all the stronger, and the young people ought not to object.

POLITICAL NOTES.

THERE seems to be but very little doubt that Hon. Horace Maynard will be the Republican candidate for Governor of Tennessee. If Andy Johnson succeeds in getting the Democratic nomination the canvass will be unusually lively.

A CINCINNATI paper says: Since the farmer's movement was begun, General Sam Cary, of Ohio, has done all his sleeping in a hay-mow. Not the least singular part of this business is the fact that it has never occurred to any one to set the barn on fire.

THE Susquehanna county (Pa.) Republicans have nominated the following ticket: Assembly, H. M. Jones, of Hartford; Prothonotary, David Somers, of Somerville; Treasurer, E. G. Taylor, of Susquehanna; Commissioner, Edward Ball, of Forest Lake.

MR. WILLIAM ALLEN, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio, was the contemporary in the United States Senate of Clay, Webster, Benton, Calhoun and Silas Wright. It used to be a remark that his voice was like a Chinese gong and could silence a steam whistle.

THE Democratic conferees of Warren Senatorial District met at Jamestown, on Wednesday, and selected James A. Stranahan, Esq., of Mercer, as delegate to their State Convention, with instructions to support Hon. John Trunkey for the Supreme Bench, and Frank M. Hutchison for State Treasurer.

THE Republicans of Cumberland county have nominated the following ticket: Assembly, C. P. Humrich; Sheriff, Geo. J. Deitrich; Treasurer, H. B. Hoch; Commissioner, Samuel Epply; Poor Director, John Moul (3 years), David Foglesonger (2 years); Jury Commissioner, J. A. Basehore; Auditor, B. R. Stauffer; Coroner, J. C. Kennedy.

THE Clinton county Democratic Convention met the other day and resolved to "arraign the Radical party for the Cæsarism in aiming at the establishment of a virtual dictatorship through the third-term movement in favor of Grant," and then turned around and nominated W. H. Brown and S. B. Snook for their fourth terms in the office of Prothonotary and Register respectively!

THE St. Louis Democrat wants to know "why is it that the New York World and many other papers keep attributing the action of the farmers' clubs in Illinois to the grangers? There are comparatively few Patrons of Husbandry in that State, and not one of their lodges has ever passed a resolution touching upon politics, or taken any political action whatever. It is no wonder that the grangers are indignant at the liberties taken with their name."

THE State officers to be chosen by New York in November are: A Secretary of State, in place of G. Hilton Scribner (Rep.); a Comptroller, in place of Nelson K. Hopkins (Rep.); an Attorney General, in place of Francis C. Barlow (Rep.); a State Treasurer, in place of Thomas Raines (elected as a Republican); a State Engineer, in place of Wm. B. Taylor (Rep.); a Canal Commissioner, in place of John D. Fay (Dem); and a State Prison Inspector, in place of Solomon Scherur (Dem.) Members of both houses of the Legislature are also to be elected.

THE terms of the following United State Senators expire on the 4th of March, 1875: —Eugene Casserly, Democrat, California; William A. Buckingham, Republican, Connecticut; Thomas F. Bayard, Democrat, Delaware; Abijah Gilbert, Republican, Florida; Daniel D. Pratt, Republican, Indiana; Hannibal Hamlin, Republican, Maine; Charles Samuels, Republican, Massachusetts; William T. Hamilton, Democrat, Maryland; Zachariah Chandler, Republican, Michigan; Alexander Ramsay, Republican, Minnesota; Adelbert Ames, Republican, Mississippi; Carl Schurz, Republican, Missouri; Thomas W. Tipton, Republican, Nebraska; William M. Stuart, Republican, Nevada; John P. Stockton, Democrat, New Jersey; Reuben E. Fenton, Republican, New York; Allen G. Thurman, Democrat, Ohio; John Scott, Republican, Pennsylvania; Wm. Sprague, Republican, Rhode Island; William G. Brownlow, Republican, Tennessee; Joseph W. Flanagan, Republican, Texas; George F. Edmunds, Republican, Vermont; Arthur I. Boreman, Republican, West Virginia; Matthew H. Carpenter, Republican, Wisconsin.—N. Y. Herald.

THE death by suicide of Mr. Stoddard, at Lichfield, Mich., is announced. He was a Representative in the Michigan Legislature in 1855 and 1856, and again in 1868 and 1869; a State Senator in 1870, and again 1872. ELIAS DURAND died on Friday at the age of eighty-three years, in Philadelphia. He was born in France and served under Napoleon I. as pharmacien in the army. After the fall of Napoleon he came to this country and established a drug store on the present site of the Ledger building, which was for many years the most celebrated store of the kind in the city. A herbarium, embracing 10,000 American plants, presented by him, occupies a separate gallery in the Jardin des Plantes in Paris.

To add to the interest of the occasion, the youngest daughter of Mr. Jackson and Mr. Richard Peck, of Illinois, were joined in holy wedlock.

That's makin' me heart-sick, me darlint, that's thrue!

"Indade, if ye'll let me, I will that!" says he.

There is no very marked change to note in the condition of the money market, although there is certainly an increase in the demand for loans, which undoubtedly will in a short time tell on rates. The change in the weather and the return of many of our citizens from their usual Summer excursions, probably has something to do in the matter. At present there is an ample supply of money to meet all wants at 9@10 per cent. per annum, but it is difficult to say how long this condition of the banks may continue, and some borrowers are anticipating the future while rates are easy. Local securities and real estate are comparatively dull.

NEW YORK, August 16, 1873.

Money closed up easy at 2½@3 per cent. on call. Foreign exchange was dull, with actual business at 108¼@108⅜ for bankers' sixty days' sterling, and 109½ for sight. Gold was active, opening at 115¼, advancing to 115¼, declining to 114⅞, and finally advancing to 115⅜. The closing sales were at the highest figures of the day. The clearings were heavier than for a long time past, which reflects the activity of yesterday. The total was $147,908. The rates paid for carrying were 2, 2½, 1¼, 3, 4, 5 and 1 per cent. to flat. The specie shipments for the week were $496,792, of which $2,200 was silver coin, and the remainder silver bars. The calling in of $15,000,000 five-twenty bonds of 1862 by the Secretary of the Treasury was in obedience to a notification from the syndicate that they had received that amount of new subscriptions in Europe. The called bonds are held chiefly on the other side, and will be taken up largely there by the syndicate, so that the Government will not have to handle much money in the transaction. Probably three-fourths of the $15,000,000 will be exchanged and the balance paid off in cash. The Assistant Treasurer paid out to-day $32,000 on account of interest and in redemption of five-twenty bonds. The customs receipts for the week were $3,513,342. The imports for the same time amounted to $6,970,442, of which $3,076,668 were dry goods and $3,893,774 general merchandise. Governments were dull, and there were no material changes. State bonds were quiet at nominal prices. Railway and miscellaneous speculation was quiet, and, with the exception of a few cases, the changes were slight. The unfavorable bank statement had very little effect on the market, but just before the close a vigorous selling movement was noted in Pacific Mail and Atlantic and Pacific preferred. Pacific Mail opened at 40⅜@40⅞, and fell off to 40¼, recovered to 40⅜, and closed at 39⅞@39⅞. Atlantic and Pacific preferred, rose from 28 to 29⅞, and afterwards sold down to 27⅞@28. Western Union sold at 91⅞@91⅞, Lake Shore at 94@93⅞@93⅞. Erie at 59⅞@59⅞. Ohio at 39⅞@39. Northwestern common at 66⅞@65⅞@66⅞, C. C. and I. C. at 31⅞@32, and Union Pacific at 27⅞@27⅞. The other changes were unimportant.

The Ledger says money in Philadelphia is in abundant supply, all the banks being prompt to discount legitimate business paper, of which, however, there is little making, and even less offering for discount. On the street the larger bill brokers quote call loans at 5 per cent., loans on Government collateral at 6 per cent., on other higher grade collateral at 7½ per cent., and on such collateral as is esteemed good 8 to 9 per cent. Best endorsed paper is quoted at 7½@8 per cent. Prime single name paper, when taken at all, rules at from 8 to 10 per cent.

According to the Globe, the turning point in the Boston money market, and the extreme ease that has prevailed of late is no longer a leading characteristic. Considerable disturbance of call loans is noted to-day for almost the first time in many weeks, and the rate on demand is now fully 6 per cent. for new engagements, though, doubtless, the majority of loans running at low figures remain unchanged. The note-brokers report the market for mercantile paper as quite active at the recent advance in rates, and an increased demand for discounts is observed at the banks. The market is naturally in an unusually sensitive condition, owing to the extreme stringency that prevailed last winter, and the fears of a repetition of the same. The belief is very strong, however, among those whose opinion is of most weight in financial circles, that the conservative feeling so generally manifested, and the very precautions taken in anticipation of tight money will effectually prevent the recurrence of any such scarcity as that experienced last year. There is, in addition, the semi-official assurance from the Treasury that every means will be employed to defeat any possible efforts at creating artificial stringency, even to the issuing of a part of the retired forty-four millions legal tenders. The hardening tendency in rates is not confined to this city, but is clearly defined in New York on both call and time loans, while figures on commercial paper are materially higher.

The Gazette says the demand for money in Cincinnati was fair, and there was some currency sent to the country, which drain is not made up by the receipts through mercantile channels, so that many of the banks are disposed to discount only for depositors, but rates are kept at 8@9 per cent. In the open market prime business paper is negotiated at 8 per cent. if it has not over three months to run, but most of the capital for investment in it comes from other sources than the banks. There are exceptional transactions at 9@10 per cent. The tone of the market for Eastern exchange was heavy, and while dealers took the current offerings at 1-20 dis.@par, they were indifferent about buying, and were free sellers at 1-20 premium, and round sums, in some instances, at par. Between banks there were some transactions at 1-20 discount.

Saturday's Chicago Tribune says money continues so abundant in that market that we hear of numerous instances of money offered on prime commercial paper at 8 per cent. Many of our banks declare that they never lend money for less than 10 per cent. per annum, and never ask any customer more than that price. The banks are loth to establish the precedent of lending money at less than 10 per cent., and, rather than do so, some of them send their surplus money off to New York, where they get 4 per cent. on their balances; but we believe that many of them are also disregarding this policy, and are offering money on prime 60 day commercial paper at rates which are intended as inducements to customers to take the money and use it here. This is a more judicious policy, and benefits not only the bank, but the city. It is an unjust discrimination against the customers of the banks to refuse them money at what it is worth in the open market, when at the same time the money is sent down to New York and practically loaned to the National Banks in that city at a less rate, to be used in such speculations as their present shameless and foolish effort to put up the price of gold. If, in times of abundance of money like the present, the banks would encourage the use of money here, by offering it at 8, 7, or even 6 per cent., it would stimulate financial operations here, and eventually result in larger profits to the banks themselves. If Chicago is ever to become a financial centre of great importance, such as shall draw both money and men here to make important negotiations, the banks must abandon their 10-cent policy, and lend money for what it is worth in the market.

The Baltimore Gazette says Baltimore and Ohio was quoted at 170@174, and Central Ohio at 40@42, City Passenger being unchanged at 15⅞@18⅞; Baltimore and Ohio was offered, after the close of business, at 170, no bid. In bonds 1,500 Baltimore and Ohio 1885s sold at 98⅞, 1,000 do. 1870s at 98¼, 1,600 Northern Central gold at 91, and 3,080 Pittsburgh and Connellsville at 94⅞.

The return from the Bank of England for the week ending the 30th of July gives the following results when compared with the previous week:

Rest	£3,485,551	Increase	£4,832
Public Deposits	8,178,851	Increase	125,358
Other Deposits	18,225,141	Decrease	299,341

The amount of notes in circulation is £25,988,655, being a decrease of £20,865, and the stock of bullion in both departments is £23,312,007, showing an increase of £96,200 when compared with the preceding return.

The office is to be removed from Huntington to Chicago. PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, August, 16, 1873.

Business generally continues quiet, and there are no important changes to note in the condition of trade, the market for most of the leading staples presenting the same general features as for some days past.

BUTTER—There is a continued steady demand for the better grades, and prime to choice may be quoted at 23@25, and medium to good at 18@20. Low grade butter continues dull.

BEANS—$2.50@3 per bushel.

CHEESE—Is in better supply, the arrivals during the past few days having been unusually large, but prices are fully sustained; prime Ohio Factory, 13 for round lots, and 14 in a jobbing way. Sweitzer, 15@17, as to quality.

EGGS—The market is still reported dull, but prices are without quotable change, 14@15.

FRUITS—Apples in good supply, and may be fairly quoted at $2.50@3.50 ℔ brl., as to quality. It is difficult to quote Peaches, Plums and Berries, as quotations scarcely hold good while they are being written, as the market fluctuates very much; however, there is a very good demand, and all that is in good condition is bringing very fair prices.

FLOUR—The market, if anything, is firmer, but prices, as compared with the date of our last report, have undergone no change whatever; we continue to quote at $7.25@7.50 ℔ brl. for Spring wheat flours, and $8@8.25 for red winter wheat.

GRAIN—There is a moderate demand for Wheat, but the supply is fully equal to it and prices remain unchanged; $1.40@1.45 for new red, and $1.50@1.60 for old, according to quality. The Oat market is steady but unchanged, and we are reported regular sales at 42@43 for mixed, and 44@45 for white. Shelled Corn is more inquired for and firmer, and, as compared with last week, higher; quoted at 57@58 free in elevator, according to quality. Ear Corn is scarce with sales reported at 58@60. Rye is also light supply, and may be quoted at 85, although no considerable amount could be sold at any price, as there is not much inquiry for it. No movement in Barley as yet; No. 2 fall was quoted at $1.05@1.06 in Chicago on Friday.

GROCERIES—For the grocery staples the market continues very strong and buoyant in tone, and for Coffees the tendency of prices is still upward. There were but two cargoes in first bands in Baltimore at last accounts, and the total stock of Rio in first hands in the United States is said to be only about 28,000 bags. Refined Sugars are quite active and firm, but there has been no late advance in our market. Prime Molasses and choice Syrups are reported firm, and in light supply.

COFFEE—Choice Rio, 26; Good to Prime, 22⅞@24⅞c. fair 22@22⅞c. Old Government Java, 28c; other Javas, 26@27c. Roasted Rio, in packages, 28c; loose, 27⅞c. Roasted Java, 33⅞.

SYRUPS—White Drips, 65; other grades ranging from 60 to 40, as to quality.

RICE—Choice Carolina, 10; prime, 9 Patna, 8@8½; Rangoon, 7¾@8.

MOLASSES—Choice New Orleans, 73@75c Prime 70@72.

SUGARS—Patent Cut Loaf, 13c; Crushed, Granulated and Powdered, 12; Standard A, 11⅞ B, 11⅞; Ex. C, 11c; C, Yellow, 10⅞; Circle C, 10⅞; Lower grades, 9@10.

HAY—The arrivals of baled recently have been comparatively light, but the supply is still in excess of the demand, and prices remain unchanged, ranging from $20 to $25 ℔ ton, according to quality.

POTATOES—Coming in more freely, but with a steady demand, prices are still maintained; we can report regular sales at $1 ℔ bushel.

ONIONS—$5@5.50 per barrel.

POULTRY—Sales of young or spring chickens at 50 to 60 cents, and full grown or old ones at 70 to 80 cents ℔ pair, according to size.

PROVISIONS—Extra Sugar Cured Hams, ℔ lb. 16⅞. Ex. Sugar Cured Shoulders, 11⅞; Sugar cured Breakfast Bacon, 13⅞c. Extra Sugar Cured Dried Beef, 18⅞@20. Beef tongues, $7.50 ℔ dozen. Bacon Shoulders, per lb, 10c. Bacon Rib Sides, 10⅞c. Bacon Short Rib Sides 11c. Bacon Clear Rib Sides, 11⅞c. Mess Pork, $18.00 per barrel. Refined Lard for summer use, in tres. 9⅞. Do. half bbls. 10⅞c. Do. bkts 11⅞c. Do. in 3 lb. caddies, 12⅞c. Do in 5 lb. 12⅞c; Do. in 3 lb. pails 13⅞c ℔ pound. Do. in 6 lb. pails, 13.

RAGS—Quoted at 3½@3¾c.

SEEDS—Flax Seed is quotable at $1.90 per bushel, and Timothy at $4.50. There is but little doing.

TALLOW—Quoted at 7½@8c ℔ lb.

WHISKY—Highwines, 95@96c.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CENTRAL STOCK YARDS, EAST LIBERTY, SATURDAY, August 16, 1873.

The following is a statement of the receipts of stock during the week, and in order to afford a comparison, we append those of the week preceding also:

	This week	Last week.
Cattle	657 cars	615 cars
Hogs	149 "	168 "
Sheep	140 "	130 "
Horses	12 "	12 "
Mules	5 "	"
Total	964 "	925 "

CATTLE.

As will be seen, the "run" was again large, the arrivals being considerably in excess of last week, and the quality was again common, although the supply of various grades was fully up to the demand. Trade, while it was by no means satisfactory to the selling interest, was all that could be expected under the circumstances. With continued heavy receipts, and unfavorable reports from the East, especially from New York, the market was not very brisk, and there was but little inquiry from any of the leading markets. There have been no New York buyers here for several weeks, nor is it likely that there will be as long as the "favored ones," by reason of drawbacks, can ship through from Chicago to that point at about the same rate that it is charged from here, notwithstanding it is double the distance. The demand for shipment to Philadelphia, it is feared, will be cut down in the same way. There were fewer Philadelphia buyers here this week than usual, and the reason they assign is that they cannot pay the prices for cattle here, and compete with those who have the advantage of drawbacks. We have no positive knowledge that drawbacks are allowed, but we are assured by those who are in a position to know that such is the case; if it is so, we have reason to believe that it is. It is all wrong and should be stopped. All shippers should be placed on an equal footing by the railroads; no one man or set of men should be allowed a cheaper rate than any other man or set of men. It is not only unfair but unjust, and it is this discrimination that is assisting in creating a very bad feeling against the railroads all over the country. The argument advanced by railroad managers is that they cannot help themselves, that they must offer the same inducement allowed by competing lines or else they can't get the business, and while it must be conceded that there is some force in this argument, yet it does not destroy the proposition that the whole system is wrong, and if such a thing is possible, should be abolished, and the sooner the better.

Prices, as compared with last week, were reported a shade lower for the best and lowest grades, while medium stock, it was thought, held its own, because there were more buyers for it than other kinds. So far as we could learn, there were but very few sales above 6c, and very few at this figure; one drove of fancy Illinois steers, averaging about 1,500, brought 6⅞, and there were one or two other droves not quite so fine; sold at 6 and 6⅞, but the bulk of the sales were within the range of 4⅞@5⅞, and it required pretty good cattle to bring the outside figure. Common Texas and native grassers may be quoted at 3 to 4c, and good to prime at 4⅞@5. Bulls were very dull, and prices ruled lower; quotable at 2⅞ to 3⅞, as to quality.

SHEEP.

The arrivals, as will be seen, were heavy, the largest we have had to record this year, footing for the week 140 cars; it should be borne in mind however, that a very large proportion of this increase consisted of stockers; indeed, the supply of fat sheep was not larger than usual which is evident from the fact that all of this kind sold readily and at full prices—some salesmen reported a slight advance, as compared with last week. Common stock, however, in consequence of an oversupply, was dull and lower, while stockers, more familiarly known as "Jersey ewes," held their own pretty well—a good many of these were through consignments, and were not on this market at all. Prime, fine wool, 100 lbs sheep may be quoted at 5⅞; 90@95 lbs., 5⅞@5⅞; 80@85 lbs., 4⅞@4⅞; 70@75 lbs., 3⅞@4⅞. Jersey ewes quotable at $2.50@3.50 ℔ head, according to quality. Open wool sheep of this kind sell quicker than fine wool, because of their being so much heavier. Our dispatches from New York, under date of 15th, was unfavorable for the selling interest.

HOGS.

The arrivals of hogs were light, unusually so, and with an average demand, the market ruled moderately active all week, selling just about as fast as they arrived, and that, too, at full prices. There has been an unusually brisk demand for shipment to Baltimore for several weeks past, which has not been without its effect upon our market, and it was this as well as the limited supply that kept prices up this week. Light hogs, quality being equal, are still bringing as much as heavy ones, and sell more readily. Prime, light, even, smooth Yorkers and Baltimore hogs may be quoted at 5.25@5.30, whereas, prime Philadelphias hogs will not bring any more. Rough heavy hogs, 4⅞@4⅞. There is a steady demand for stock hogs, and the offerings continue very meagre; may be quoted at 5⅞@6 cents.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET,

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, August 16, 1873.

The Crude market was panicky and badly demoralized during the early part of the week, and prices ruled lower than for many years; since then, however, a little stronger feeling has been developed, and a slight advance established. Sales were reported as low as $1.10 per brl. at Parker, while yesterday and to day it ranged from $1.17½@1.25, we were reported a purchase of 8,000 brls to-day at $1.02 for certificates. The feeling in regard to the immediate future, however, is not very favorable for the selling interest; new strikes are still of common occurrence, the production, already unprecedently large, is increasing, while the demand is not more than an average, if that. It is true, but very few wells have been started recently, but there are still quite a number going down, and the indications are that prices are destined to rule low during the balance of the year. It is reported that many of the small wells will be stopped, and we have no doubt it is true, as they cannot be operated to pay at present prices.

Refined has been very dull all week, and prices have further declined, although it, too, closes with a firmer feeling in sympathy with the raw material. Quoted nominally at 15⅞@16 delivered in Philadelphia, equal to about 17⅞@18⅞ on cars at works. For western shipment, quotations may be given at 13⅞c, and we understand that some sales have been made for September delivery at this figure. It should be borne in mind that refiners are obliged to obtain more for western than for eastern shipment, as they are obliged to incur a number of incidental expenses in shipping west that can be avoided in shipping east. The fact that Cleveland has the advantage of us in cheaper freights, tends to cripple our trade with the west.

There is a steady demand for Oil barrels, and prices are still maintained, ranging from $2.10@2.20 for countries, and $2.25@2.30 for city make, according to length of haul. The depression in oil has had no influence on barrels.

Wool Markets.

NEW YORK, August 15.—There has been a fair business, and the market generally steady, though receipts of some descriptions have been pretty liberal. Texas and California wools seem to constitute the bulk of the arrivals. Advices from Michigan have quoted prices there at 40@42c, and those from Ohio at 45@46. A considerable portion of the receipts here is said to have been of medium grade, while the demand from manufacturers has rather run on finer quality. RIVER NEWS.

The stage of water last evening was seven feet and falling—a decline of nearly three feet within 48 hours. The fact that there was no rise in the Monongahela caused it to decline more rapidly than it would have done otherwise. The weather at this writing is cloudy, with every indication of more rain.

The Juniata arrived from Cincinnati yesterday at 10½ A. M., with a good trip, and as will be seen by card, she will at once commence making engagements for a return trip.

The following accidents to the coal fleet are reported: Tigress sunk one barge and grounded five others at Merriman; Veteran sunk one barge and the Blue Lodge grounded two at McKee's Rocks; John A. Wood grounded part of her tow at the foot of Neville Island, and the Coal Valley stuck at the foot of Brunot.

The pilots of the Juniata, the Alexander brothers, report having met the following boats at the places named: My Choice at Kate's Rock, Leopard, Wheeling; Samson No. 2, Bellaire; Joseph Stone, Michigan, Wheeling Island; Tigress and Tom Dodsworth, Sisters; Giant, Pike Island; Evan Williams and Veteran No. 2 Tiltonville; Stella, Wellsburg; Tom Rees, Resolute Coxe's Ripple; Mary Ann, James Gilmore, Wm. Stone, Grand Lake, Mingo, Lake Erie, Rowlands Coal Works; Tom Rees, do; George Lysle, Dick Fulton, Little Whale, Sam Miller, Charley McDonald, Bengal Tiger, John Dippold and Sam Clark, Steubenville; Diamond, Well's Creek; Fred Wilson and 2 towboats, names unknown, at Brick Yard Bend; 5 unknown at Ellottsville, 1 unknown at New Cumberland; 2 at Clifton, 1 at Yellow Creek, Fox and I. N. Phillips at Deadman, and Blue Lodge at Sewickley.

The Exchange is due here from Cincinnati to-day.

The Fearless barges are announced for St. Louis and all intermediate ports forthwith.

Captain F. H. McCosh's statement in regard to the report of his arrest on a charge of defalcation, places, as might be expected, the matter in quite a different light. It seems that he was employed by Com. Kountz for one year at the rate of one hundred dollars per month, with the understanding that if he served the full year he was to receive an additional bonus of $500. After having served eleven months, he was discharged by Com. Kountz, and as Capt. McCosh had reason to believe for the purpose of breaking the contract in order to save the bonus of $5.0. He, Captain McC, as soon as he became aware what was up at once drew, as he was still clerk on the Mollie Moore, his bonus of $500, to which he considered himself justly entitled, and charged himself with it. We make this statement in justice to Capt. McCosh, who is an old Pittsburgher.

—The Memphis Avalanche says:

The last trip made by the steamer City of Augusta in the White River trade, previous to her lying up, was a losing one, the total receipts for the round trip for both freight and passage only footing up $789, while the boat's running expenses was fully $1,200 for the trip. During the month of July the entire amount of freight sent up White River, both by rail and river, returned but $2,350 as freight charges, and this sum is barely sufficient to pay the running expenses of a vessel like the Cleburne or the Legal Tender for a single week during the active business season. And yet there are people who would like to have a daily line of fine steamers from this city to Jacksonport, if they could only find some one who would pay the expense.

—The citizens of Red Wing and Hastings are considerably exercised about the suits commenced against those cities for the recovery of the wharfage tax paid by the Northwestern Union Packet Company. In both cities petitions have been circulated and numerously signed, it is stated, pledging the withdrawal of all business from the Northern Keokuk Line—the successor of the Northern Union Line—unless the suits are withdrawn.

—The Memphis Avalanche says: Capt. Thomas Berry, formerly commander of the St. Patrick, Des Arc, and other boats and a well-known river pilot since the days when "Mark Twain" was a cub on Western steamboats, was sighting around town yesterday. Tom is now a Walnut Bend cotton planter, and an annual crop worth $10,000 makes his nose turn up when a steamboat berth is mentioned.

—The middle lock of the canal now being built around the DesMoines rapids was completed Monday. The lock contains about 12,000 cubic yards of masonry, and is 489 feet long and 80 feet wide. It cost the Government $260,000, and will admit the passage of steamers drawing five feet of water during the lowest stages of the river.

—Capt. John Barrett, of the Hiram Compbell, accidentally fell overboard below North Bend Monday night, and would have drowned but for the active assistance rendered him. As it was, he was pulled out of the water in a thoroughly exhausted condition.

—Capt. Nelson Davis, late of the J. W. Garrett, has gone to take command of the Mississippi Valley Transportation Co.'s towboat Bee, the berth having been made vacant by the death of Capt. Goll.

—The Cincinnati Gazette says: Capt. James H. Maratta is in the city. He would like to get a good boat, sternwheel, less than 120 feet long, for the Trinity River trade, as he has assurance of a contract to carry the mails.

—Capt. Dan. W. Maratta's inquiring friends are informed that he is Captain of the Mobile Moore, up Missouri River.

—The steamer Bismarck has been laid up at St. Louis for a thorough overhauling to be ready for the fall business.

—Captain A. M. Halliday has contracted with James Mack, of Cincinnati, for a new boat to take the place of the Jennie Howell.

—The Parkersburg Times says that Capt. J. T. Russell has purchased the R. W. Skillinger, and is to take command of her.

—Capt. Jas. W. Batchelor has become a resident of Pittsburgh.

—The Bermuda will re-enter the Cincinnati and Evansville trade.

RAILWAY HORROR.

A Fearful Slaughter.

ELEVEN PERSONS KILLED.

Thirty-five Wounded.

MANGLED AND SCALDED.

List of the Victims.

CARELESSNESS THE CAUSE.

CHICAGO, August 17.—A terrible accident occurred at half past ten o'clock last night near Lemont, on the Chicago and Alton railroad, by an incoming freight train colliding with the south bound express passenger train, almost entirely wrecking the latter, and killing six persons outright and fearfully injuring some thirty-seven others, many of whom, it is said, will die. The cars caught fire, and numbers of the injured were bured badly, while others were scalded by hot water from the locomotive boiler.

Lemont is about twenty miles south of this city, and the accident was not known here except to railroad officials until between twelve and one o'clock this morning, and then only to parties who happened to ascertain that surgeons had been sent for to go to the wrecked train.

Among those dangerously injured is Hon. J. W. Smith, warden of the Illinois State Penitentiary.

Second Dispatch.

CHICAGO, August 17.—The total number killed and dead of their injuries by the collision on the Chicago and Alton railroad, near Lemont, last night, is, up to 3 o'clock this afternoon, eleven, and wounded thirty-five. The following is a list furnished by the officials of the railroad, and is doubtless correct:

Killed—John Metheler, an engineer belonging to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad; the two firemen belonging to the colliding trains, names unknown; Frank Bridges, apparently a fireman; N. Dveibiz, Jr., of Springfield, Ills.; Thomas Morton, porter in Anderson's Hotel, Chicago; R. J. Braces, of the firm of J. V. Farwell & Co., Chicago; two men whose bodies are yet unidentified.

Injured—Capt. John W. Smith, warden of the Illinois Penitentiary at Joliet, badly scalded, cannot recover; J. F. Fienny, Purchasing Agent for the Penitentiary at Joliet, fatally, will scarcely live till night; Anton Penkleman, St. Louis, badly, probably fatally; M. C. Cartwell, Chicago, badly bruised; Wm. Mitchell, Duck's Island, Maine, badly scalded; Alex. Montouth, Ducks Island, badly scalded; Thomas Strong, Muskegan, Michigan, scalded; Thos. Crowley, Chicago, scalded; William Curran, or Corant, Ducks Island, scalded; J. Lemotte, Philadelphia, badly scalded; Jno. Sherries, Glasgow, Scotland, badly hurt, ruptured; Alex. Hackett, Ducks Island, scalded; A. Borden, scalded; John Whalen, of Akron, on his way to Bloomington, back and hands scalded; Henry Small, Akron, Ohio, scalded; J. E. Cunningham, baggageman, leg broken; Jas. O'Neill, engineer of the passenger train, both legs broken; engineer of coal train badly bruised; newsboy on passenger train bruised; Geo. Reatil, Chicago, badly, and arms scalded; A. C. Heckman, artist, of Chicago, badly scalded on head and hands, and bruised; Jacob Klaze, fatally; Jacob Cordenaut, Oshkosh, Wis., will probably die; Isaac Mills, New York, slightly scalded; Martin Carleton, Bloomington, Illinois, scalded; Albert Adams, Bloomington, scalded; Wm. Richardson, Chicago, scalded; L. A. Hamlin, Dwight, Illinois, slightly scalded; John O. Keefe, Akron, Ohio, James D. Doyle, scalded; John Spears, Chicago, scalded, and M. S. Jahn, Chicago, scalded.

The trains did not catch fire as was reported this morning, and all the passengers killed or injured were in the second class car, which was also used as a smoking car, and with the exception of the fireman and engineers and train men, the casualties were all caused by steam. None of the regular passenger coaches or sleepers were thrown from the track or in any way injured, and no one in any of them hurt.

Another Account.

The following account of the accident is from statements of the officers of the road:

The regular passenger train from St. Louis left at 9 P. M., and consisted of a baggage car, express, three day coaches, the head one a second class or smoking car, and two sleepers. At 12:20 P. M., when three miles north of Lemont and twenty-two miles south of this city, at a curve in the road there suddenly appeared a coal train of thirty five cars running at the rate of about twenty miles an hour. The passenger train was running at the rate probably of thirty miles an hour, and neither of the engineers saw the other's engine till it was too late to reverse, a fact accounted for by the curve in the road and partly by a dense fog. The two came together with fearful force. Being in a curve, however, each engine left the track and passed each other, that attached to the coal train striking the baggage car a few feet from the end and shoving it off the track, breaking the coupling between it and the smoking car, which the engine struck square in the end, and with such force as to throw the forward end in the air, so that the engine ran under it, tearing the floor completely out and hurling the fifty or sixty unfortunates who were in the car in a struggling mass to the lower end, where there was no chance for escape, and now a scene ensued the horrors of which cannot adequately be described. The smoke stack and dome of the engine was knocked off by the collision, and the broken timbers of the smoking car penetrated the boiler letting loose a dense volume of hot steam, which poured into the car, blinding and scalding the helpless inmates, who, with heartrending shrieks, struggled vainly to extricate themselves. Meantime Conductor Russell, of the passenger train, who was unhurt, and a number of passengers from the rear coaches, came forward and endeavored to assist the poor victims. But there was little to do beyond taking from the wreck the dying and the wounded, many of whom were fearfully scalded. Seven died soon after they were taken out, and four have since died.

The point where the accident occurred is near what is known as "The Sag," a low, marshy meadow half way between Lemont and Willow Springs Station, and not a house in the neighborhood. The unhurt passengers, however, took the bedding from the sleepers and ministered as much as was possible under the circumstances to the wounded, while Conductor Russell hurried on foot to Lemont and telegraphed to Superintendent McMullen here for surgeons and aid. Mr. McMullen hastily got together half a dozen physicians and a supply of such articles as were necessary, and started about midnight with a special train for the scene of the disaster, arriving there about 1:30 this morning. Everything possible was done for the sufferers, and at six o'clock this morning the train returned to the city, bringing the uninjured coaches of the wrecked train and all the dead and wounded, except the two firemen, who were left at Lemont for burial.

On their arrival here those of the wounded who reside here were taken to their homes, and the others were taken to the hospital, with the exception of Capt. Smith and Mr. Fienny, who were taken to the West Side Briggs House. Neither of these gentlemen, it is feared, can recover.

The cause of the accident was the criminal recklessness of the conductor and engineer of the coal train, whose duty it was to wait at Lemont till the passenger train had passed, unless they had received positive orders to proceed. This the officers of the road say was not the case, and that the coal train should have staid at Lemont. The conductor of the coal train is named Bean, and had been running the train for a year, and was considered a first class man. He has not been seen since the disaster, and is thought to have escaped and fled, as the last seen of him was in the caboose of his train, which was injured. No blame is attached to the officers of the passenger train, which is said to have been on time, and had the right of the track.

The track has been cleared of the wreck, and trains will run out from here to-night as usual.

Another Collision.

POTTSVILLE, PA., August 16.—A passenger train bound West for Mahony and Ashland, on the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad, came in collision this afternoon, near Mitzer's switch, with a separate train, consisting of an engine and passenger coach, having G. A. Nichols, Vice President of the road, on board. Charles Shelby, mail agent, and the baggage master, both of Pottsville, were injured about the breast and legs, and the engines demolished.

Cusener was fatally and the others seriously injured.

HOME NEWS.

Recovering.

Mrs. Yerx, whom the evening papers insist in calling "Yericks," is recovering. Fell has been discharged on his own recognizance, no information having been made against him.

European Steamship Arrivals Saturday.

A dispatch received at Max Schamberg's European Steamship and Telegraph office, at No. 163 Smithfield street, announces the arrival of the N. G. Lloyd line steamer Main, at New York; Cunard line steamer Abyssinia, at New York; Cunard line steamer Java, at Queenstown; N. G. Lloyd line steamer Ohio, at Southampton.

A Free Fight.

Early on Sunday morning a party of some twenty men got into a fight in Otterman's saloon, on Ohio street, Allegheny. During the melee, knives, pistols and other weapons were drawn, and "punched" heads were the consequence. The proprietor tried to quell the disturbance, but he was unequal to the task. A squad of six policemen, with their little clubs, succeeded in "cleaning out" the place. No arrests were made.

Retaliation.

On Saturday night, about eleven o'clock, in Fred. Richter's saloon, on East street, Allegheny, a white man named Snair and a colored man named Hess had a fight. During the fracas the negro took a beer glass and struck the white man over the head with it, injuring him quite severely. The friends of Snair then turned about and administered a thorough body-beating to Hess, and now he is hesitating about prosecuting the parties who en-snair-ed him into the punishment.

Died From His Injuries.

The Coroner yesterday held an inquest on Jacob Rupp, a boy aged eight years, a resident of Sarah street, Twenty-fifth ward. The boy was run over on Wednesday last in trying to board a wagon on Twenty-first near Carson street (South Side) when he slipped and fell backwards, the hind wheels of the wagon passing over his legs, crushing them so they had to be amputated. The wagon was loaded with Nicholson pavement blocks for Jane street. Yesterday morning he died of his injuries. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

Habeas Corpus.

An application for a writ of habeas corpus was filed on Saturday last in the District Court, Judge Kirkpatrick on the bench, by Major W. C. Moreland on behalf of John Vandevender against Laura Vandivender and Jane Hendrickson. The application set forth that Jesse Vandevender, an infant three year old, and a child of complainant, is unlawfully restrained of its liberty by the aforesaid respondents. The father desires to obtain possession of the child, and in order to ascertain the facts the Court granted the writ, directing the production of the body of the child before the Court, on Saturday morning next at ten o'clock.

Suspension of Railroad Employes.

The Altoona Radical says that on Friday and Saturday last about three hundred employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in that city were suspended. A suspension of ten per cent. of the employes on the road seems to have been ordered, and, we understand, has taken effect at Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Renova, and other places. It is not publicly known whether the suspension is permanent or temporary, but we are inclined to think it is only temporary. Among those suspended here we observe a number of the oldest employes and some of the best workmen, which goes to confirm our opinion the suspension is only to reduce the expenses for the time being.

How a Burglar Didn't Come to Pittsburgh.

On Thursday night a burglar attempted to make an entrance into the grocery store of Mr. Richardson, at Swissvale, by one of the front windows. A clerk sleeping in the store captured the intruder, and brought him to Mr. Richardson's house, where he sat up with him for some time, expecting to bring him to this city on the next morning's train. Now, as the night was long, Mr. R. told his clerk to return to his quarters, and he would watch the captive till morning dawneth. Alas, for tired human nature. While Mr. R. was watching the burglar, his mind wandered into the realms of fancy and he was overcome by sleep. During this interesting period the would-be burglar left for parts unknown. Burglar catching in Swissvale is since considered not a genuine success.

Damages Claimed.

On Saturday, in the District Court, Mrs. Martha Young entered a suit for damages against Giles A. Foulke and John Moore, for causing the death of her minor son, Harry Young. It will be recollected that on Sunday, June 29, the defendants, Foulke and Moore, were amusing themselves rolling stones and stumps down the hillside on Butcher's Run, Allegheny, and that the little boy Young was crushed to death under one of the stumps while rolling to the bottom of the ravine, and overtook him as he was running to escape it. Foulke is a middle aged man, while Moore is a mere youth. The Court fixed the bail in the sum of $3,000 in each case, and the Prothonotary was directed to issue capiases for the arrest of the defendants. Major A. M. Brown is attorney for plaintiff.

Will Probated.

On Saturday the will of the late John J. Travell, of Sewickley, was admitted to probate in the office of the County Register. The expenses being paid, he directs that in case his estates and investment in the Lawrence Nurseries, of New Castle, reach in balance the sum of thirteen thousand dollars, that fifteen hundred dollars be paid to his married sister, Eliza A. Glenn, one thousand dollars to his sister Frances A. Travell, and five hundred dollars to his brother Joseph S. Travell. After directing that certain sums be paid out in settlement of the charges made against the estate of his father, he bequeaths to his wife, subject to the above bequests and remissions, all his estate and possessions. He directs his wife to present to his half-brother, Francis Charles Travell, some suitable present as a keepsake, not to exceed one hundred dollars. John Porterfield and George H. Stevenson are appointed executors.

Additional Coal Shipments.

The following tugs have left the city with tows in charge since our report of Saturday morning:

The total amount of coal that went down on this rise for Louisville and Cincinnati is 3,808,000 bushels.

Oily Items.

The eight large wells recently struck on the Starr and Troutman farms are astonishing every one by their producing capacity. Seven other wells in that vicinity are doing from 500 to 1,300 barrels per day. Their names are as follows: The Boyer well, 700 barrels; the two Satterfield & Taylor wells, 600 barrels each; the Percy & Beck well, 600 barrels; the Thompson & Harley well, 950 barrels. The Deans' well, struck last Saturday, is doing 1,300 barrels. The last of the eight is the Captain Gracie well, struck last week, doing about 700 barrels. There are seventy four more wells now going down in this vicinity, within a radius of about a quarter to a half a mile, which will be finished within the next thirty days.

The oil market at Titusvile on Friday, says the Courier, showed more strength than upon the day previous. Oil at $1.20 a barrel is so near nothing, that it will not be strange if there should be a considerable advance, without the ability of any one to tell the reason why. Perhaps the cause of yesterday's advance might be found in the fact that during the day no one thousand barrel well was reported to be struck.

"Hard Times Are Coming."

The Titusville Courier thinks hard times are coming, and draws rather a gloomy picture of the future. It says: "The general depression in all kinds of business which has followed the decline in our staple production will lead to one good result, and that is the adoption of the cash system for all business transactions. The Sheriff will be busier for the next six months than he has in the past. Many of the producers at work so industriously in the Butler oil district are toiling for the benefit of the Sheriff of that county. There is no disguising the fact—no use of trying to shrink from it—hard times are upon us. The summer season is drawing to a close, the Autumn will wear wearily away, and in a few short months we shall find ourselves in the midst of an unprecedented hard Winter. The laboring people, with the present cost of living, have not been able to save anything, or to make any provision for the future. Among this class there will be much suffering. To be sure, the oil region is not alone in this general depression of business. The whole country is afflicted in the same way, but people in other sections do not feel it as we do, for we have, in this corner of Pennsylvania, enjoyed a long period of comparative prosperity, and we must now prepare ourselves for the worst. Let every person practice the strictest economy." What a doleful photograph.

VITAL CONTACT—THE STORY OF A TOUCH.

A Sermon by Rev. R. W. Pearson, D. D., Pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church.

The Rev. Dr. Pearson, the new pastor of the Fourth avenue Baptist Church, has been indisposed for some time past and only preached in the morning yesterday. The congregation filled the house and were addressed with great eloquence on the question of Christ to his Disciples concerning the cured woman—"Who touched me?" Luke viii, 41. The reverend gentleman said it is the teaching of exact science that no two particles of matter absolutely touch. The dust that lies thick with the layers of centuries over ruined cities; the waters that whirl in the foaming rapids of Niagara, each and all fail to bring the atoms to a touch. Yet in every day speech, and with essential truthfulness, we speak of such close contact. Sometimes in the language of indifference—"only a touch" at others with the pathos of passion. "Offer the sound of a voice that is still, O for the touch of a vanished hand." The laws that relate to the vast and sublime attach themselves to the minute, and obscure with equal force

"The very law that moulds a tear,
And bids it trickle from its source,
That law preserves the earth a sphere
And guides the planets in their course."

In this narrative, whose characters are biographies, for the world's study, and whose principles are as universal in application as they are obligatory in their nature, we have the history of a sufferers touch, its antecedent and its consequences, told with threefold emphasis. It is eternized on the scroll of inspiration as an abiding and impressive symbol of immortal doctrine. It was a touch that marked human extremity and proved God's opportunity. Disease, as the shadow of death, had become a guest of dread familiarity. Just when poverty allied itself as a grim jailor to the spectre of death; just when hopes far off lamp seemed extinguished, and kindly death was ready to be hailed as a boon that cut loose from the tangled skein of life, tidings of Jesus and his approach wrought a revolution in effort and in hope. This is ever the condition of accepting salvation, at least with the mature and the adult. The story of George Whitefield at Oxford, illustrates in conspicuous letters what is common experience. Human nature would ever weave its own cover of fig-leaves. The acceptance of Christ is a matter of felt necessity or we keep him forever without the door. The things that prevent us getting on in the world if they but prove stepping stones up in the world to Christ we will be grateful for. Mysteries we will realize are but problems waiting fuller light for solution. This was the touch of enlightened discernment, nor can accurately trace the dawn of a principle in the soul. There are many avenues to man's mind. Forbidden, because of her infirmity, to mingle freely in the sources of information, there had yet arisen an image of Jesus as the Healer, upon her mind. The transparent liquid when ready to crystalize, will fall into pre-ordained lines of regularity and beauty and ripest science can but say "It is made to do so." So souls are divinely fitted for Christ. "My sheep hear my voice." When the Master exclaims "Mary!" the responsive soul instantly cries "Rabboni!" Let us encourage the faintest spark. On our knees fan it into a flame. Bright and blessed is the ground of a spiritual laborer's assurance; "He will perfect that which he hath begun."

The touch was one of imperfect knowledge, and it may have been one of partial superstition, but it was one of venturing faith. It was in God's sight, with whom there is cognizance of purposes, the touch of a soul. Hark, there is the hum of unwonted life; the stir of busy feet, and Jesus stands revealed in the midst of a thronging multitude. In an instant, through her worn fingers, the soul is made to articulate its piteous cry. Faith is vindicated. The coveted boon is attained. She is instantly cured. So with the soul when brought into vital contact. No matter under what skin, beneath what sky, nor covered with what defilement—faith working by love to Jesus secures instant, irreversible and everlasting pardon. The dead lives. Habits may take years to lay aside and only when mortality is fluttered off, at death may some infirmities be dropped, but the nature, which is eternal life, hath once for all been imparted. None shall pluck out of Jesus hand. Christ still bears with many imperfections of knowledge, and even in our best devotions we need acts of pardon passed but loving obedience—establishes and maintains commerce between earth and heaven, humanity and God. Romanism works towards pardon; Christian faith from it as a base. Attention to detail is an attribute of highest genius. It characterizes the divine government. As carefully is the wing of an insect, whose duration is a breath, and whose space is a spec, elaborated and burnished as are the movements and magnitude of an orb. Assuredly His eye rests upon every child. The awful spirit that covers infinity with its penetrating glance rested upon that crowd and that woman. The first question that broke the silence of earth fell from the lips of the Christ: "Where art thou?" The same august lips now demand—"Who touched me?" The two epitomize the Fall and the Redemption—hiding from God and seeking for God: I could bear to think of you seen enwrapped in sudden and endless night, but not "that one of these little ones" should be ignored or lost.

Christ put questions after a Socratic fashion. He would arrest and fix attention. The question then and there, here and now, summons universal attention to the consequences of this woman's touch and to Divine requirements concerning the subjects of Divine mercy. Confession! We may throng the sanctuary and not approach its Lord; we may press hotly upon the very breath of Jesus and not touch Him. "Sitting down, they watched Him there," as they crucified Him. Geographically, how very near! Spiritually, how very far from Him who, dying, spreads His arms to clasp the world!" He closed with an earnest and impressive appeal to open, frank and full confession of the Saviour. Then and only then would the sweet aroma of Christ's words—"Go in peace"—diffuse their blessing. "Who touched me?" Lord, by faith I touch thee now. Clasp thou me in deathless love, and when I awake in thine embrace, I shall assuredly be satisfied with thy likeness.

A DIABOLICAL PLOT.

First to Kidnap, Second to Poison, and Third to Blow Up—Plan to Obtain Revenge and Stop a Trial—One of the Gang Turns Informer—Arrest of the Parties.

Four men named Wm. Dobbs, Thomas Winfield, James Lightfoot and —— Welty were recently discovered to be the authors of a diabolical plot to blow up a residence and a family at Mansfield, Ohio. Dobbs, the principal, is a very wealthy man, and lives about eight miles from Mansfield. About a year ago a little girl about fourteen years old, a niece of Dobbs' and a daughter of John Bernard, went to live with the former as a domestic. One day during the absence of the family her uncle destroyed her virtue. She went home and told her parents. Mr. Bernard instituted a suit against Dobbs, and the jury awarded him damages in the sum of four thousand dollars. The girl then brought suit, laying her damages at twenty thousand dollars. Dobbs laid a number of plans to prevent the trial of this second suit. In the first place he proposed to kidnap the girl and secrete her in a bagnio until after the trial; second, to poison her and the whole family; the plan finally decided upon was to blow up the dwelling and every person in it. To aid him in carrying out this hellish idea he secured the three men whose names are mentioned above, promising to reward them liberally. Last Wednesday night was the time fixed for the enactment of the tragedy. A keg containing a quantity of powder was to be obtained and placed under the house, which stands about two feet above ground, and is supported by stone pillars. The outside woodwork of the building was to be thoroughly saturated with kerosene. If the explosion did not kill all the inmates, those who escaped were to be shot down as they left the house. The plot would no doubt have been executed, as every necessary arrangement had been made, had not Winfield exposed the whole affair. He quarreled with Dobbs as to the amount of money that he was to receive. He had already been paid twenty-five dollars, and wanted fifty more, which Dobbs refused to give him until after the completion of the job. This arrangement not being satisfactory, he told Mayor Netsaher and Marshal Lemon all about it. By the advice of the magistrates, Winfield continued to act with his confederates and carry the matter on until the night set for the execution of the affair. At nine o'clock that evening Lightfoot was arrested with the powder and fuse in his possession, and Dobbs escaping was taken into custody the next morning, being found at his farm. The two men had a hearing, and Dobbs was required to give bail in the sum of only five hundred dollars for his appearance at Court, while Lightfoot was held in but four hundred. Welty and Winfield are still allowed to remain at liberty. The affair created great excitement in Mansfield, and there was some talk of lynching the men. Lynch law should never be encouraged, but the expressions uttered would form sufficient foundation for the belief that a great many people in the region of Mansfield would like to see Dobbs have a fair trial at pulling hemp.

THE SUNDAY RUNAWAY.

Two Young Men Thrown from a Buggy—One of Them Probably Fatally Injured.

Last evening about seven o'clock, as two young men rather under the influence of liquor were driving along Federal street, Allegheny, their horse became frightened near Hemlock street and ran away. The horse had ran but a short distance when he collided the buggy with an empty wagon, and both parties were thrown out. One of the young men was thrown flat on his back on the pavement, and the other struck on his head against the curbing, rendering him insensible. The latter was picked up and carried into Dr. Cole's office where he was resuscitated and his injuries dressed. It was found upon examination, that he was very badly injured internally, and that one of his legs was badly hurt, while his head and body were severely cut and bruised. The other young man was also badly bruised and cut. He was also properly attended to. They were afterwards removed to their homes in Pittsburgh. There are grave doubts of the recovery of one of the young men as his injuries are of a very serious nature. They would not give their names as they were afraid of getting them in the papers.

She has frequently expressed the wish, as is alleged, that the libellant might be killed while in the discharge of his duty as a railroad conductor. She has twice maliciously deserted him, on one occasion absenting herself for the period of five months, when she would attend places of amusement and behave indecently. A subpœna was awarded, and made returnable on the first Monday of December next.

DETERMINED TO DIE.

A Married Woman Commits Suicide.

Coroner West yesterday held an inquest on the body of Catharine Gleason, a native of Ireland, aged forty-five years, a resident of Jones avenue, Twelfth ward, opposite the Outer Depot. It appears that the woman, whose husband is in the employ of the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company, was in the habit of going out to days' washing. On Monday last she went out to work, and during the time she was gone the house was robbed of some $20 in money and some clothing. Since that time she has been nearly crazy. She was very fond of ale, and during the week drank pretty freely. On Saturday morning her husband handed her forty dollars. This she deliberately threw on the floor, and commenced to break the furniture. He got her quieted and she went down town and drank several glasses of ale. She returned a short time after. In the evening while her daughter was getting supper, she was very boisterous, and seized a can of carbon oil, which she threatened to swallow. They compelled her to desist from her purpose, when she threw the entire contents of the can into a skillet of beefsteak that was cooking on the stove, after this, she seized the skillet, threw it on the floor, and broke it. The family got her quieted again and put her to bed. About quarter past six o'clock, her son had occasion to go into the bed room, when he found his mother hanging by the neck quite dead. She had taken her apron off and tied it around her neck, and then adjusted it to the bedpost and fell on her knees, which nearly touched the floor. It was stated that the deceased only drank ale occasionally, and whenever she got under its influence she threatened to commit suicide. The jury rendered a verdict of death from suicide, while laboring under a temporary fit of insanity. She leaves a husband and two children.

FOOT-PADS AT WORK.

They Make an Immense Haul in Allegheny.

About half past one o'clock yesterday morning as George Gordon was returning to his home on James street, Allegheny, he was accosted suddenly by three men, who had jumped from behind a fence near his residence. They knocked him down and proceeded to go "through" him, when he said if they would desist, he would give them his money that he might live. He delivered over his wealth—thirty-five cents—to the free-booters, who were so elated over the immensity of the amount, that they simultaneously proceeded to give him a free booting, which latter drew the gore on Mr. Gordon, who did not relish the way in which they returned his favors. He succeeded, however, in freeing himself from them, and getting Lieut. Voightly, but the birds had flown.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH,
MUNICIPAL HALL,
PITTSBURGH, August 6, 1873.

Proprietors Pittsburgh Tar Chemical Works:

GENTLEMEN—Your note of July 30th, asking for an opinion as to the merits of your "Carbolate Powder," as a disinfectant, has been received. I am directed to inform you, in reply, that having tested your "Carbolate Powder," the Board of Health can cordially recommend it to the public as a cheap and effective deodorant and disinfectant. Very truly yours,

CROSBY GRAY, Health Officer.

It is hardly necessary to add anything to the above. The fact that the Board of Health recommends for general use the Carbolate Powder will convince all of our readers that it is in every respect fully what it is claimed to be. It should be in every house, and freely and plentifully sprinkled wherever a disagreeable odor can be detected. In view of the probability of the approach of cholera every precaution should be taken to ward it off, and nothing can be more effective for that purpose than the Carbolate Powder recommended above.

A Noble Enterprise.

What a wonderful success has been produced by the Gift Concerts of the Public Library of Kentucky. Since their last drawing on the 8th of July they have paid out to their ticket holders half a million of dollars without defalcation or discount in any instance, and now thay propose in December to give away one million and a half of money. Their past history proves that this will certainly be done, and who can refuse to take a small risk in so magnificent a gain. Then every ticket-buyer knows that if he is not individually lucky, at least half of his adventure goes to the benefit of the magnificent library, which is as much his own as it is that of every other citizen of the United States. (See advertisement.)

Take Care of the Children.

Dr. Harris' Summer Cordial is highly recommended for children teething. It is a pleasant, mild neutralizing Cordial, and free from every possible objection. It should be in every house where there are children.

····On Saturday afternoon while an Adam's Express Company's driver left his horse on Penn avenue, that animal suddenly started off on a run. Near Eleventh street it knocked a man down, but did not seriously injure him.

····A child in the Twelfth ward is starving to death. Some time ago it swallowed a small draught of lye, and since that time its caustic effects have caused the passage to its stomach to close, till now it can take nothing into its stomach.

····Thomas Somers, an employe in the glass works of Bakewell, Pears & Co., on the South Side, was seriously injured on Saturday by falling with an armful of glassware, and running a piece of glass into his left arm, which was cut quite badly.

····Eighty feet of the roof of Everson & Preston's mill, on Second avenue, caved in on Saturday morning. A car on the Connellsville road knocked one of the supports from under it, and also badly injured one of the furnace stacks.

····To-morrow the citizens of Ohio county, West Virginia, will vote on the proposition to subscribe $15,000 to the capital stock of the Pittsburgh, Wheeling and Kentucky Railroad Company. Little interest, it is said, is taken in the matter by either the people of the county or the officers of the Company.

····About half past eleven o'clock on Saturday night, officer Geary noticed the gas burning very bright in James Reno's establishment, No. 41 Federal street, Allegheny. He managed to enter the store. The gas had blazed up so high that it had set fire to one of the beams in the ceiling. He extinguished the fire and turned out the gas.

····A new postoffice has been established in Adams township, Butler county, Pa., and will be known as "Mars" postoffice. Samuel Park has been appointed Postmaster, and he is emphatically the right man for the position. Those who are furnished their mail matter at the "Mars" postoffice, (which is at Mr. Park's house,) will be courteously and promptly attended to.

····The Wheeling Intelligencer says: So far as the school elections have been heard from in different parts of the State, the vote is almost unanimous in favor of the levies. Judge Loomis is elected County Superintendent in Wood county; Mr. Morris, editor of the Gazette, in Ritchie; Mr. S. R. Hanen, former editor of the Reporter, in Marshall; Mr. H. C. Shepherd, in Hancock. No district yet reported has voted against the local levy. Nothing but the question of schools or no schools was involved in the election; and the result indicated, shows that the common school system is firmly rooted in this State in the affections of the people irrespective of party.

HENRY WORMSER, alias Wolf, had a hearing on Saturday before Deputy Mayor Heisel on a charge of false pretense, preferred against him by Ernest Hauch. It is alleged that he collected five dollars from Ernest Hauch and three dollars and fifty cents from Charles Reichenbach, both liquor dealers, on the South Side, by representing that he was selling liquor by sample for a house in this city. He gave bail for trial at Court, the prosecutors refusing to withdraw the suit.

ON Saturday a hearing was had before Alderman Hoerr, of the South Side, in the case of Simon Brasser vs. Mr. Aiken, charged with felonious assault. The plaintiff was in the employ of defendant as a driver, and a few days ago left a team standing in the stable while he went out to get a drink. During his absence the team became fractious and ended by mashing things up generally. Brasser hearing of the mishap did not go back, and supposing he had lost his job went home. When he went back for his wages he alleges that Mr. Aiken went for him with a hatchet. The defendant was held for court in the sum of $300.

HIGHWAYMAN CAPTURED.

Brave Conduct of a Young Man—A Lively Chase.

Early on Sunday morning two young men named James Walker and Christ Dickson were crossing the suspension bridge to Allegheny, when they were accosted by two men, who asked the way to the West Penn Depot. Mr. Walker, as he was going that way, told them to go over with him, and he would show them the way. To this they readily consented. After having crossed the bridge Mr. Dickson left his comrade, who proceeded on his journey. He had not gone but a short distance when he found that the two men had changed positions to one on each side of him, and that one of them had his hands in his (Walker's) pocket, and was in the act of "faking" a roll of bills. Mr. W., without more ado, knocked the robber down, and the other would-be-highwayman started on a gentle tour of quick perambulation, to a man who suddenly wanted him around the corner. The other fellow was also off as soon as possible, and Mr. Walker gave him chase. He was assisted a short time after by officers Atkinson and Jones, who succeeded in capturing the fugitive near Robinson and School streets. He was taken to the lockup, where he gave his name as William Johnson. He will have a chance to explain this morning.

In our "Want" column will be found an advertisement for a suitable person to furnish capital to secure patents in Canada and Europe, for an invention which is now on exhibition in this city, and which for real utility has no equal. We have examined the article and have no hesitancy in saying that it is more efficient in the protection of life and property than anything which has come before the public for years. Its usefulness can not be estimated, and it must prove a success, and its sale will undoubtedly secure a fortune to him who has the capital to invest.

An Act of Cruelty.

Chapped hands and face are the most serious annoyances that farmers, and people who labor much out of doors, experience from exposure. Exposed persons, especially children, repeatedly suffer intensely from great cracks upon the hands, that often bleed. It is cruel to allow one's self or others to suffer in this way, when the means of positive prevention are so easy to be had, and so cheaply, as to pay ten cents for a cake of Hand Sapolio. Hand Sapolio is not only better than the costliest soap for removing dirt, but it prevents chapping, and renders the skin soft and pliable. Sold everywhere. d & S.

BERKS COUNTY holds its annual fair on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th.

A SLIGHT fire damp explosion occurred at St. Clair on Thursday last. Three miners were somewhat injured; none seriously.

THURSDAY afternoon a man by the name of Thomas Cochran, was killed by a fall of coal at Beaver Dale, Northumberland county.

THE residence of Hon. Samuel Page, at Brownsville, was damaged to the extent of $2,000 on Tuesday last. His extensive library and furniture were saved. The house was not insured.

A MAN named Corcoran was killed in the Reliance Colliery, Mount Carmel, Thursday, by a fall of coal. He leaves a wife and family. His "butty," whose name is not known, was severely injured also.

TOBIAS KREIDER, an old and respected citizen of Fermanagh, was washed away with a bridge at that point, one day last week, during the prevalence of the freshet in Horning's Run. He was seventy years of age.

THE puddlers connected with the Phœnixville Iron Works, who struck for higher wages over two months ago, have returned to work at the old wages, after submitting to the condition that they should withdraw from the Puddlers' Union.

WILLIAM COLEMAN, a son of Mr. John Coleman, of Logan township, Cambria county, met with quite a serious accident on Saturday last, while moving a grain drill, the tongue of which struck him on the jaw, breaking it in two places.

ON Friday near McClintockville, on the A. V. R. R., a man had his scalp torn nearly off while jumping off a train while it was in motion. He fell between the cars in a peculiar position, so that the wheels cut his hair and partly turned the scalp. He had a narrow escape for his life.

A FEW days ago on the farm of Wm. Seidel, in Greenwich township, Berks county, a crow ventured near a stream of water where he was caught and killed by a snapping turtle. The cries of the crow were heard by a number of laborers in a field, who hastened to the spot and observed the unusual occurrence.

THE lads Stewart and Huff, who were shot by Michael Gendelsperger, while in the act of stealing apples from a farm belonging to the Cambria Iron Company, have made an information against him before 'Squire Fisher, of Johnstown, charging him with aggravated assault and battery. He is held in $500 on each charge.

A FIRE, supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion of the hay, broke out on Friday of last week in the barn of Christopher B. Heebner, in Upper Providence township, Montgomery county. The barn was filled with hay and grain, all of which were consumed, together with a valuable horse, some farming implements, and a stack of grain.

A LITTLE daughter of Joshua Hinterleitner, of Reading, while out gathering cherries some time ago, was so badly frightened by an old man named David Hottenstein, that she was taken with St. Vitus dance and died within a week afterward. Hottenstein has been arrested and held in $500 bail, and a woman named Manderbach, said to be an accomplice, has been held in $200.

ON Friday last an attempt was made to burn the town of Tidioute. A man named Went had saturated his shaving saloon with oil and alcohol, and then hired a man for $300 to set it on fire. He then went to Warren, where he was caught, brought back, and information made against him, and then taken to the Warren jail. His place was insured very heavily. The plot was fortunately discovered in time. It is said his intention was to spite a neighbor.

THE wheat crop in Westmoreland county is an average one as to quantity, and beyond an average one as to quality. It was put up in excellent order. The oats crop will scarcely be an average one as to number of bushels, but the grain is good. The hay crop is a very fair one, although not so heavy as has been raised in years gone by. The corn crop promises to be an abundant one. It is now made; the stalks being large, the ears formed, and the ground wet; there is nothing now to fear, except hail storms or early frosts.

THE Washington Advance says Murray Wilson of Morris township, a few days since, while out mowing with a scythe, drove into a bumble bees' nest with his "bow back," causing the whole family to rebel, and for a while their indignation was considerably felt by young W., who, in his endeavors to escape, threw away the scythe which struck a young son of Isarel Breese, who was standing near, inflicting a very severe wound on one of his legs. It was with some difficulty that they succeeded in saving young Breese's life, for one of the small arteries was found to be severed.

THE latest terror is the "spook" of Kohl's Mill, in Comru township, Pa., which on Tuesday of last week made its presence known by ungallantly throwing clubs and stones at a party of women who were engaged in picking huckleberries. The missiles were very tangible, but the owner thereof was not; nor yet on the next day, when the party returned accompanied by the men of their household, could he be discovered, though the sticks and stones fell in showers. On Thursday a party of fourteen men and women, whose names are printed in the Reading Eagle, made a systematic attempt to solve the mystery; but when the men closed in about the spot, measuring some twenty feet square, from which came the clubs and stones, they found nothing, and only heard the voices of the terrified women telling them that the missiles were coming from another direction. So they gave it up.

READING has had the latest terrible sensation. Here it is as related by an exchange: One of the passengers by the noon train yesterday related to us the incidents of a blood-curdling affair which happened to an advanced maiden lady, only a few moments before he left Reading. This lady, be it understood, has hopes, in spite of her age, of yet being able to enter into the bonds of matrimony. Yesterday she was setting in her chair reading the Times when her eyes caught sight of the head line "Last day for Proposals." With a shriek that came within an ace of rending the skies, she toppled off her chair, knocking over her toilet table and destroying the box in which she kept her blushes. She kicked around the floor at an amazing rate and brought everybody in the house to the room. Her sigh of relief upon being told that the article referred only to proposals for furnishing the Board of Control with coal, is likened to the noise of a steamboat blowing off steam.

THE BEGINNINGS OF SICKNESS.

Never trifle with what are called small ailments. A disorder easy of control at first, if neglected for a few weeks may become a mortal disease. Be especially careful not to let debility gain upon you, for it is the door through which all maladies enter the system. If you feel languid, inert, and to use a common expression, "as if there was no life left in you," resort at once to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. That great vegetable tonic will supply the vitality you so urgently need. It is nerve food. By its tonic action the stomach is so invigorated that digestion becomes regular, easy, perfect; while its mild, cathartic properties relieve the bowels from obstructions, and its alterative operation beneficially affects all the secretive organs. For the miseries of dyspepsia, and they include almost every unpleasant feeling that belongs to physical disease and mental wretchedness, this potent tonic is a certain and speedy balm.
